Radio Fire System Is Operating Control Station Links 64 Units

At 8 a. m. today the control station for two-way radio hook-up to 64 volunteer fire companies in 20 townships of Ulster County, went into operation at the control center in the basement of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital on Golden Hill.

Final tests were made Tuesday, three handicapped persons who will man the station were given final instruction and the control station was placed in operation today.

Three Man Station

Fire service, which has been handled through the sheriff's office, will in the future be under the complete control of the control center which will receive and send out fire messages to the 64 volunteer fire companies which have installed two-way radio equipment. It will be possible to sound a single fire siren in a fire house from the control center or to summon additional companies when needed.

Makes Final Check

Winfred Snyder, Ulster County Fire Coordinator, was at the center Tuesday making a final check and giving instructions in the operation of the system. All messages will be recorded on a dictaphone and instructions were given yesterday on use of the dictaphone machine. Members of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, Two-Way Radio committee were present at the control center Tuesday when the final check-up was made.

The two-way radio system is operated through two towers, one at Tonche Mountain at Shokan and one at Minerva. These towers are also used for sending by the other two frequencies which are a part of the radio system. In addition to the volunteer fire company frequency, the Ulster County Sheriff's Department also has its own frequency as has the Ulster County Highway Department, Civil Defense, which is sharing in the cost of the $100,000 system, will also use the system in case of emergency.

Telephone company employees were today removing the phones from the sheriff's office prior to cutting in the new radio system.

Chamber Favors School Control By Local Boards

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce favors the retention of control of secondary education in the hands of local Boards of Education.

This action was taken at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber Board of Directors at the Governor Clinton Hotel last night. The stand was recommended by the National Legislative Affairs Committee, expressing opposition to direct Federal aid to education with the attendant Federal controls. Loans to States, in place of direct grants for school construction, were favored for adequate teachers' salaries was recognized but opposition to direct Federal grants for teacher salaries was expressed. The principle reason being that control of teachers and salaries should remain with local boards of education.

At last night's meeting George E. Yerry, a member of the local Chamber and president of the Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware and Greene Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, presented his views regarding proposed social legislation. He was accompanied by representatives of five affiliated unions. Mr. Yerry requested that the Chamber oppose all bills which would reduce the buying power of the worker.

The State Legislative Affairs Committee announced that a conference will be held with representatives of the four local businessmen's association tonight to discuss pending legislation, including the proposed minimum wage law. The Albany Avenue-Ulster, Central Broadway, Downtown and Uptown Businessmen's Association will be represented.

A special Community College Committee will meet Thursday night to consider ways and means of promoting the establishment of a Community College in Ulster County. Richard M. Kalish is chairman of this committee. The other members are Joseph Benjamin, Dr. George Bushnell, Edward DeGoff, John

NH Gives Record Vote To Kennedy, VP Nixon

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential stock skyrocketed to new highs today as a result of his record-topping performance in the New Hampshire primary.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, unopposed on the Republican ballot, also smashed the GOP record.

With all but one of the state's 300 precincts reported from Tuesday's primary, the Massachusetts senator had 42,909 votes in the Democratic preferential poll. This more than doubled the highest figure heretofore rolled up by any other Democratic presidential aspirant in the New Hampshire election.

Nixon Smashes Record

Nixon's complete total reached 65,077. The previous high, 56,464, was established in 1956 by President Eisenhower.

New Hampshire election was the first of 16 state presidential primaries.

Despite Nixon's record vote, Kennedy broke down the traditional 2-1 Republican margin of superiority in the state. The ratio in Tuesday's election was about 3-2.

Two significant results of the election were immediately apparent: 1. Nixon's spectacular showing should go a long way toward dispelling the last remnants of any Nixon-can-win talk. The vice president did not come to New Hampshire to campaign personally. Top GOP leaders in the state carried the burden of his campaign.

2. Kennedy, already considered one of the leading Democratic presidential candidates, if not the front runner, moved closer to the center of the spotlight. His most enthusiastic supporters had not dared go above 38,000 in their forecasts of his poll in the "beauty contest."

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, chairman of the Nixon-for-President Committee, had predicted that Nixon would exceed Eisenhower's previous all-time high. Many New Hampshire political observers doubted it.

A break-down of the returns from New Hampshire's 13 cities showed that Kennedy pulled more than twice as many votes there as Kefauver had in 1956. Kennedy received 28,332 as against Kefauver's 12,085 four years ago.

Laud Area C-H Workers Safety Is Cited for Million Man-Hours

Kingston and Saugerties area electric operating employees of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation were lauded today for amassing more than one million man-hours of work without a disabling injury.

The group thus earned the distinction of being the first in Central Hudson's history to reach that milestone and become eligible to receive the coveted Edison Electric Institute's Safety Achievement Award, highest safety recognition in the electric utility industry.

The group which includes the utility's electric line forces and office personnel in Kingston, Saugerties and Honk Falls, worked without a disabling injury from April 15, 1954 and passed the one million man-hour mark on February 20 of this year. The group has included 136 employees over the almost six-year span with an average membership of about 85 per year.

In citing the record, Company President Ernest R. Acker said, "The outstanding achievement attained on February 20 by the Kingston electric forces is the latest and one of the proudest milestones in Central Hudson's history."

We attach great significance to the efforts of these Kingston employees who have rewarded themselves, their families and all of us in avoiding the anxiety and suffering that results from a less diligent concern for safety. The entire Central Hudson organization indeed takes pride in their achievement."

May Set Date Thursday For Dietz Land Action

Date of a recessed Common Council meeting slated for enactment of home rule legislation pertinent to transfer of 3.5 acres of Dietz Stadium land to the education board for building of a junior high school, is expected to be announced Thursday, or at least before the end of the week, it was learned today.

Assemblyman Wilson received papers on the home rule measure a week ago. The State Assembly

Lutzin Stresses Vital Chest Role, Directors Named

The vital role of voluntary agencies such as the Kingston Area Community Chest and its member units was emphasized Tuesday night by Sidney B. Lutzin, regional director of the New York State Youth Commission, in an address to the sixth annual dinner of the local Community Chest at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

He described this role as a kind of constant contribution of invaluable significance, pointing out the voluntary and governmental agencies supplement each other in a cooperative civic enterprise, the value of which the community now recognizes.

10 Directors At-Large

Directors-at-large for a two-year term were elected as follows:

Arthur B. Ewig, Joseph Benjamin, Clifford A. Henze, J. F. Schueler, W. Henry Haltermann, John J. Schwenk, Robert Stedje, Mrs. Jean Smalldon, Thomas Mitchell and Paul Terpening.

Haltermann was awarded a plaque by Chest President David Kline for "a demonstration of concern to humanity and to his community in his unselfish and faithful service as chairman of the Kingston Area Community Chest—1960."

Also awarded were citations (Continued on Page 12, Col. 6)

and Senate bills will authorize Kingston to discontinue use of the designated park land, used for recreational purposes, and make it available for school purposes.

Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye said today it is also likely that a special bi-partisan committee will be named at the session to assist in making merit awards as proposed at the March 1 council meeting. Forming of a Merit Award Board was then approved.

To Name Charter Group

Also to be named at some later date, if the proposal is approved by the council's finance committee, is a committee to assist with proposed revision of the city's charter.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today that bill numbers for the home rule measure have been officially forwarded by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, but the city awaits actual copies of the measure which were expected to be printed and forwarded either today or Thursday.

A 9-3 Common Council vote, with an alderman absent, March 1, approved transfer of the Dietz Stadium land, but because the site involved is considered park property, the home rule measure is required.

Action was also deferred, and could again be considered at the recessed session, on a proposed reduction of hours for firemen. A report was read at the regular council meeting, but Republican members asked for more time to study the proposal.

Princess to Wed May 6, To Be Like Coronation

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones will be married May 6 in stately Westminster Abbey, traditional setting for many high ceremonies of British royalty.

The glamorous princess named the day today.

She and the young commoner, who until recently was a society photographer, will be pronounced man and wife by the archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher.

Widespread Enthusiasm

An announcement from Clarence House, the princess' home, said her brother-in-law, Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, will give the bride away.

The announcement touched off widespread enthusiasm. The public was in a mood to give a rousing ovation to the nation's sweethearts.

A repetition of the splendid pageantry of Queen Elizabeth's coronation was expected, with distinguished and humble visitors flocking into London from the ends of the earth.

Scotland Yard immediately started making plans to cope with an emotional demonstration of vast proportions.

It is generally expected that Armstrong-Jones will be elevated to the peerage, probably as a marquess, before the wedding.

The announcement from Clarence House, London home of Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth II, will give the bride away. (Continued on Page 12, Col. 5)

Sgt. Sammons Dies, With Police Force Since 1934

Sgt. Frank E. Sammons, 53, of 34 Smith Avenue, who had served on the local police force since 1934, died Tuesday afternoon at Kingston Hospital where he had been under treatment for a heart condition.

Born in Rosendale, he was the son of Harvey C., and Mildred Kelder Sammons. He had lived in Kingston for more than 51 years.

Appointed a special officer in April 29, 1934, he had served in that capacity until Feb. 16, 1940, when he was named to the department with full civil service status. He was named a detective Jan. 1, 1953, and had served several years with Clarence W. Murphy, who retired as a detective in October, 1958. He became a sergeant Jan. 1, 1959.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy said today: "In the death of Sgt. Sammons the city and the police department have lost a dedicated man, and I have lost a good friend. Frank Sammons and I worked together as young patrolmen. I have never known a more conscientious man. He was a man of integrity and extreme loyalty. We in the department will certainly miss him."

An athlete of local prominence, Sammons had been a member of Kingston High School's varsity football team in 1922. Four years later he became a member of the original Yellow Jacks and continued with them for three years.

Taken suddenly ill on Jan. 20, 1959, the officer, then a detective, was reported in serious condition at Kingston Hospital for some time. It was many weeks later before he returned to duty. He was taken to the hospital again last Sunday night.

A member of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, he also held membership in Kingston Lodge No. 10, F & AM, the Craftsman's Club and was a member of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. Members of the KPA are due to meet at the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue at 7 p. m., Thursday, and members of the Craftsman's Club will meet there the same day at 7:30 p. m.

Would Let Schools Put Levy on All

Details of Plan Are Still Sketchy

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—School districts would be able to cut property taxes this year, under plans being drafted by a powerful Senate bloc.

The program would involve non-property taxes—as yet undetermined—that would be levied by individual school districts, coupled with a substantial increase in state aid.

Mahoney For Plan

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and other prominent GOP senators are backing the plan, which could spell the end of Gov. Rockefeller's floundering program for new local taxes for schools.

The plan would call for immediate action to allow local districts to raise taxes from all residents. Property owners now pay virtually all local costs of schools.

The Republican governor has proposed that school districts raise new revenues from non-property sources.

But the governor's program has faltered. He had suggested that the districts take over a 10 per cent federal telephone-use tax, which was scheduled to expire on the federal level June 30. But Congress is considering extending the tax and there is widespread disagreement over whether it will be available to the local districts.

Would Not Force Cuts

The governor also proposed federated districts to levy non-property taxes. This plan could not be put into general effect this year, however, because referendums would be needed to allow individual districts to federate, levy, collect and disburse the taxes.

The senate leader has not commented personally on his plan and many details are still sketchy. Under the district plan, school officials would not be forced to cut real estate taxes. They could use the additional funds to increase their budgets. But backers of the Mahoney plan expect public opinion to favor tax cuts.

Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph P. Carino meanwhile are working out a compromise on new state aid to education. They will propose a boost of about 60 million dollars, some GOP sources report, compared with Rockefeller's plan for a 25-million-dollar increase.

School Gets Priority

Mahoney and Carino said after a meeting Tuesday, they were in substantial agreement and had given aid to education priority over income-tax cuts, Mahoney, however, has been optimistic over the possibility of both increasing school aid and cutting income taxes.

Any increase in state aid would be above the 30-million-dollar boost mandated by present formulas.

Storm Is Growing Over U.S., Cuba Exchanges

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says relations between the United States and Latin America have reached "an all-time high."

But a growing diplomatic storm with the Fidel Castro government of Cuba provided a sharp exception to the general picture Eisenhower painted in a nationwide television address Tuesday night.

Like Limits Reference

Eisenhower made no reference to Cuba as he reported to the American people on his 15,560-mile tour of four South American countries. Despite the excellent relations he reported, he said there were some notable exceptions. "An even firmer partnership must be our goal," he added.

Shortly before he spoke, Cuba rejected as insulting a statement by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Monday denouncing implications by Castro that U.S. sabotage may have been involved in last week's explosion of an ammunition ship in Havana.

Herter had called the accusation "baseless, erroneous and misleading," and said it raised questions of the Castro regime's desire for better relations with this country.

Cuba fired back Tuesday night a protest "against the aggressive tone derogatory to our national dignity." Foreign Minister Raul Roa insisted that Cuban representatives must be addressed with "absolute respect," without descending to offensive utterances of a personal character.

No Immediate Comment

The State Department declined immediate comment.

In his speech, Eisenhower called his tour of South American countries "a most instructive and rewarding experience."

He stressed repeatedly that "serious misunderstandings" still impede the development of the best possible relationships between this country and its neighbors to the south.

His speech set forth no new policy or specific proposals for dealing with Latin American problems although he declared this country's intentions to do what it can to help them speed their industrial development.

Diversification of agriculture and industry, Eisenhower said, would help many of the countries which depend for their economic well-being largely on a single product, such as coffee.

Macera Is Fined $1,000 Today in Conspiracy Case

Anthony Macera, 49, of Catskill, salesman for the Westchester Asphalt Distributing Company of White Plains, was fined $500 under each of two conspiracy counts when he appeared at noon today before Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg for sentence. The fine was paid.

Arraigned as a co-defendant with Macera under the conspiracy indictment was Town Superintendent of Highways, Porco Benvenuto of Marlboro. Benvenuto was charged with conspiracy in the joint indictment returned Feb. 25. A plea of innocent was entered. Charles Saccoman, appeared as counsel for the firm of Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman asked that the defendant be paroled in his custody. He requested 10 days for motions. Special Assistant Attorney General Bernard Tompkins objected to paroling the defendant in custody of his counsel and asked that bail be fixed. He suggested a minimum of $500.

Saccoman, citing the fact that Benvenuto had always appeared when requested to do so, said the defendant was a public official and a responsible citizen of his community.

Justice Greenberg fixed bail at $500 and set March 21 as date for motions.

Benvenuto was elected to office.

Local Agencies Plan Teenagers' Camporee in May

Three agencies of the Kingston area Community Chest—the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.; the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Inc.; and the Ulster County Chapter, Association for the Help of Retarded Children—will again sponsor a weekend camporee for teenagers at Camp Wendy, Ulster County Girl Scouts' established camp at Wallkill May 27-29.

Pans for the spring camporee, second annual co-educational camping weekend to be launched on a county-wide scale, got underway at a recent meeting held in the Civic Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Agency advisors jointly chairing the meeting were Miss Dorothy Smith, county AHRC camp committee chairman; Mrs. Donovan Buehring, Ulster County Senior Girl Scout Advisor; Mrs. George Markow, member of the Ulster-County Girl Scout Council camp committee; and Gordon A. Craig Jr., District Commissioner, Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Inc.

Scouts Attend

Representatives of the Ulster County Senior Girl Scout Planning Board attending the session included Joan Dunbar, Kingston High School Senior Girl Scout Troop 90, Planning Board president; Frances Lynch, Wallkill Senior Girl Scout Troop, vice president; Kathy Lacey, KHS Troop 90, historian; Carol Gillman, St. James' Methodist Church Senior Girl Scout Troop, Troop 4, secretary; and Diane Dolan, Wallkill Senior Girl Scout Troop representative.

The three-agency camporee is planned to give teenage girls and boys an opportunity to meet with others of their own age throughout the county. The program will be designed to afford ample time for improving outdoor camping skills, and participating in waterfront activities and other recreational events. There will be charcoal cooking, and eating out-of-doors the entire weekend. Within this type of well-organized outdoor living, handicapped teenagers of the county will spend a weekend of camping as guests of the scouts.

Cooperative Venture

The camporee is a cooperative venture of all Senior Girl Scout troops of the county, Explorer Posts of the Kingston area, and AHRC teenage groups within the county. Under the direction of the Senior Girl Scout Planning Board preliminary plans formulated at the recent meeting have set up the camporee on a three-day schedule, Friday through Sunday afternoon. The early breaking of camp Sunday makes provision for afternoon arrival at home preparatory to Scout participation in local Memorial Day parades on the following day.

The month of March has been designated for initial work on the project. Assignments include: programming for the camporee and all special events, Kingston High School Troop 90 assisted by Kingston Area Explorer Posts; registration and weekend hospitality, Senior Girl Scout Troop of Wallkill; supervision at the campsite, Marlboro Senior Girl Scout troop program aids, New Paltz Senior Girl Scout Troop; cookouts for training handicapped youngsters in outdoor living skills preparatory to participation in camporee, Senior Scout Troops and Explorer Posts; fliers and informative bulletins, AHRC; training of adult leaders, Ulster County Girl Scout Council; camp readiness, Girl Scout Council camp committee; transportation, AHRC and volunteer groups.

The steering committee set 1 p. m. Saturday, April 2, at the AHRC office, 286 Clinton Avenue, in Kingston, as the next meeting date for the coordination of all work assignments and the final shaping up of all plans for the camporee.

Funds Are Sought For Soil Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York congressmen are seeking $1,400,000 for construction of a soil research center at Cornell University.

No funds for the center, which was authorized by Congress several years ago, are included in President Eisenhower's budget.

The congressmen, at a meeting with four farm and industrial leaders from the state Tuesday decided to name a delegation to seek funds from a House appropriations subcommittee.

Rep. John Taber (R-NY) said he would consult with Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) before naming the group. Taber and Celler are the state's senior congressmen.

Taber said this is the wrong time to make an appeal for funds but if no attempt is made, New York may lose out to other states seeking the center.

Only one New York Democrat, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, attended the meeting. However, Rep. Harold C. Osterberg (R-NY) said virtually every Democrat in the delegation favors location of the center at Ithaca, N. Y.

Meeting with the congressmen were: W. D. Tyler of Rochester, water resources committee chairman of the state Cannery and Freezers Assn.; C. K. Bullock of Ithaca, commodity director of the state Farm Bureau; Harold Wright of Pawling, legislative chairman of the state Soil Conservation Districts Assn.; and Dr. Nyle Brady, head of Cornell's agronomy department.

Trial of Former Mayor on Taxes Set for June 20

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Former Mayor Steven Pankow's federal income tax trial is scheduled for June 20.

The trial, one of two legal actions pending against him, was set Tuesday. He is charged with evading $43,411 in income tax for the years 1954 through 1957, during his term as mayor.

Pankow, a Democrat, and four ex-city councilmen in 1957, are awaiting re-trial on bribery, conspiracy and accepting unlawful fees charges. The trial, alleging paying contract pay-offs, ended in a deadlock last month in Erie County Court.

The new paving trial will be held in State Supreme Court because of a crowded county court calendar.

EXTENDING OUR REACH

One measure of man's development is the degree to which he has extended his senses. In primitive times he had to depend on the unaided eye and ear; he could make his power felt only as far as he could throw a stone or stick. Today, optical and electronic instruments allow him to see things infinitely small and infinitely distant. Today, man is able to span a continent in a few hours; he is able to strike at an enemy thousands of miles away.

Man also has extended what might be called his social reach. By means of collective action, he can put forth his hand to give aid and comfort to those who suffer, no matter how distant they may be.

A tornado strikes a town, or a river swollen by melting snows floods a community and destroys everything in its path. Help comes from a thousand, from 10 thousand other communities. There is an outpouring of immediate and long-range aid, administered by devoted workers who make this their calling. They are the instrument through which thousands, millions of others can extend a helping hand, just as the telescope is the instrument which enables a man to see far into space.

The most notable instrument for extending the individual man's social reach is the American Red Cross. By making use of its marshalled resources and skills, the individual can help his fellow human beings in many ways that would otherwise be denied him. Because of this, contributing to the work of the Red Cross is less a duty than a privilege.

A University of Vermont professor says every man has a secret desire to show his manliness by growing a beard. We hope the desire remains secret.

OUT LIKE A LAMB

Each year it is duly pointed out that, although the vernal equinox does indeed occur in March, this is a month not to be trusted. And almost every year March goes out of its way to prove the point.

But how much proof does March need? Here we have more than a foot of snow in New York City, 10-foot drifts in Indiana, congressional committee meetings in Washington called on account of snow, schools closed in 12 states, record cold in Nebraska, Indian families starving in Arizona, ice storms in Arkansas, travelers stranded in the hills of West Virginia. This, clearly, is too much!

March has a chance to redeem itself. Having come in like a whole pride of lions, roaring and carrying on like crazy, its one big chance is to go out like a lamb. If it doesn't, we may just skip March next year. Fair warning!

The Internal Revenue Service will crack down on those who "forget" interest and dividend payments. Taxpayers seem to have a better memory for deductions.

FRIENDS, ROMANS

A hearing expert said the other day that his tests show Washington, D. C., residents may hear better than most Americans.

In some places, subnormal hearing may affect up to 30 per cent of the people tested. But in Washington this figure runs only about 12 per cent.

We may be able to get at the reason for this if we follow our expert closely. He points out that most people hear better through the left ear than through the right. And he thinks this may be due to the stimulation the left ear gets from constant telephoning.

Well, if use stimulates the auditory nerves and makes hearing sharper, then we have our answer.

Where more than in Washington, the home of our walkie-talkie statesmen, do the human ears—both left and right—get more practice?

Opponents of the administration's liberalized security risk program figure it involves too little security and too much risk.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
SUGAR AND CUBA

Castro is beginning to feel the pinch. Otherwise, he would not have tried to bind our hands prior to a conference on outstanding difficulties. From the authoritative "McCarthy Sugar Report," I take these figures which ought to make an American think:

"To Russia—1 million metric tons at $3.10 per 100 pounds = $ 68,342,000
To the U. S.—1 million metric tons at $5.10 per 100 pounds = $112,434,000
Thus Russia gets Cuban sugar cheaper than the U. S. by $ 44,092,000
"(The top world spot price this week was $3.10 per 100 pounds (F.O.B.) (Cuba), and U. S. spot on a comparable basis F.O.B. Cuba was $3.10).

"Actually, of the first one million tons, Russia bought 575,000 tons at a lower level than the indicated $3.10 price above. She bought last September 230,000 tons at $2.95 and on February 5 of this year 345,000 tons at $2.78 per 100 pounds. These sugars will go into the deal as part of the 1960 one million tons since they were purchased for shipment this year.

"As a matter of record Russia always buys sugar from Cuba at a discount under the spot price. In fact, no other country in the world since Castro became Cuba's dictator has bought sugar for less than Russia. Russia is the fair-haired boy."

Obviously, it makes no sense for the United States to pay more for sugar than the world price, or than any other country pays. Why must we always be suckers?

But it is not only sugar that we buy from Cuba at a subsidy price that comes out of the pockets of the American taxpayer. We also give Cuba a direct military subsidy of $343,000. This money is military assistance to Castro, for the training of jet fliers. He could use those fliers against the United States. Do we have to subsidize our enemies?

When we pay more for sugar than the world price, we are paying a subsidy. It is true that some of that money goes to American companies in Cuba which employ Cuban labor. Since the first Sugar Act of 1934, the United States has given Cuba a higher quota for the import of sugar that has amounted annually to 375,000 tons. So advantageous has been the quota and the subsidy that a number of American companies have found it beneficial to invest in Cuba. All their properties are now imperilled by Castro policies.

There is a tendency on the part of some businessmen and members of Congress to oppose any action about either the quota or the subsidy at the present time, on the general ground that Castro will come to his senses and that then the American companies that do business in Cuba will continue to benefit by quota and subsidy. They feel that a subsidy once removed will never be reinstated. They are undoubtedly right, as there is a growing opposition to subsidies which seem to be unnecessary in a rising market.

Those who favor doing nothing about Castro have learned nothing from 40 years of experience. A revolution, such as the Castro movement in Cuba, that is, a social revolution, does not recede unless put down. There is too much to loof for those in power to give way unless they cannot hold up.

Cuba is not Russia. It is a minor country with small economic strength or potential. Its black-mail prospects are excellent because of its proximity to the United States, but the only way to get rid of a blackmailer is to knock his teeth out so that he cannot put the bit on.

Certain figures in the McCarthy Sugar Report are worth quoting in this connection: "On September 1, start of the new crop year world stock was 12,541,000 metric tons. World production is estimated at 48,900,000 tons and consumption at 50,317,000. Thus world stock on August 31, 1960 will be 11,000,000. While the stock figure will be less than the 12,541,000 tons of the previous year it will be more than the 10,071,000 on hand September 1, 1958. A drought in Europe cut into estimated production.

"Of the total world production Russia will make an estimated 5,880,000 tons against 6,260,000 in the previous year. This is a post-war step-up in production from 2,500,000 tons in 1937-38 and is more than Cuba will produce."

There is no shortage of sugar and the United States need take none at all from Cuba. (Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Here Is Bald Truth About Popular Food Fallacies

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Like superstitions, most false ideas about food are handed down from generation to generation. Usually the fallacy is innocently transmitted by word of mouth from an elder person to an unquestioning youngster.

Occasionally it is started and maintained by a well-meaning food faddist who genuinely believes in the truth of his claims but whose uncritical enthusiasm and lack of basic knowledge prevent an unbiased judgement of available facts. And finally, at times, false statements and claims are made by food quacks for commercial exploitation of a special product in which they have a financial interest.

Here is an incomplete list of some of the more popular fallacies you're apt to run into in your daily life. Following each is a brief comment or statement of the facts, as known to reputable dietitians and other students of body chemistry.

Fallacy—Citrus foods cause "acid conditions" in the body. Fact—Citrus foods burn with an alkaline ash.

Fallacy—Acid foods cause rheumatic diseases. Fact—Rheumatic diseases, other than gout, are unrelated to diet.

Fallacy—Eating starches and proteins at the same meal aggravates rheumatic conditions. Fact—The body is fully equipped to carry out all types of digestion at one and the same time.

Fallacy—Drinking water at meals causes obesity. Fact—The caloric value of foods is unchanged by addition of fluid.

Fallacy—Red meat produces an elevation of blood pressure. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Fish is a brain food. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Carrots cause the hair to curl. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Onions and garlic purify the blood. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Oysters, celery, celery tonic and wheat germ oil promote fertility. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Excessive indulgence in ice cream sodas may result in a time incrustation of the lining of the intestines. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Drinking water after eating a banana may cause fatal indigestion. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Raw eggs are more nutritious than cooked eggs. Fact—The best way to eat and digest eggs is to hard-boil them and grate them.

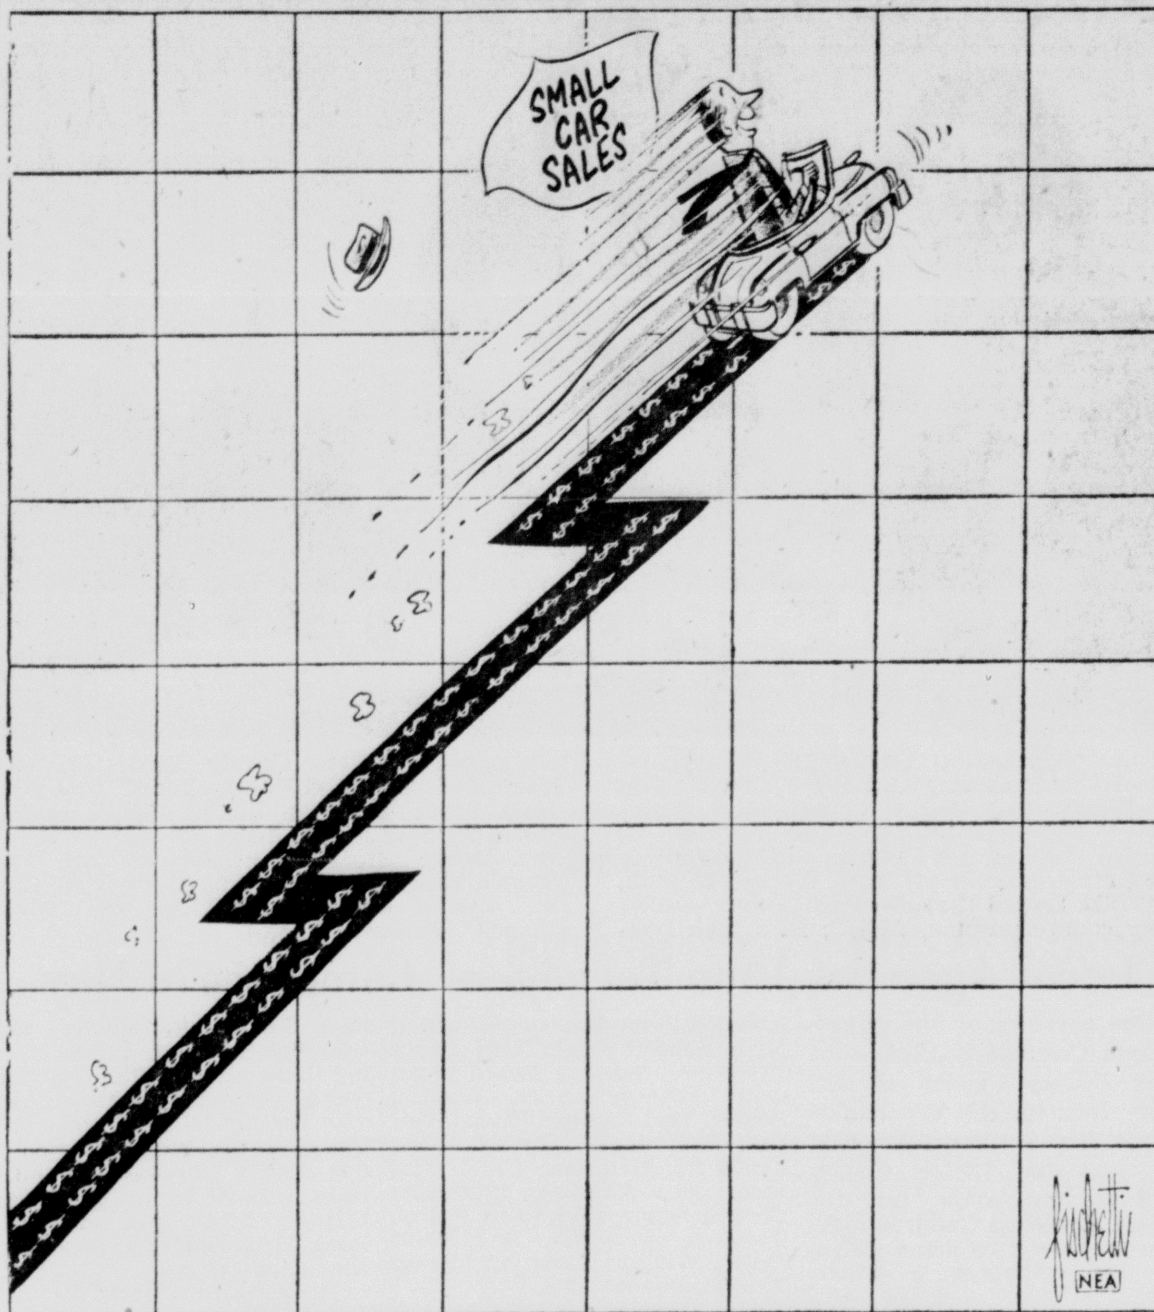

Fallacy—Raw milk contains elements that are destroyed by pasteurization. Fact—Nonsense, unless the reference is to bacteria, like the tubercle bacillus and the organism that causes Bang's disease in cattle and undulant fever (brucellosis) in humans.

Fallacy—Soured milks contain nutritive elements that are missing in sweet milk. Fact—Souring adds nothing but unpleasant smell and flavor.

Fallacy—Milk is digested best when it's sipped. Fact—Gulping down milk produces the finest curd.

Fallacy—Beef blood or juice and chicken broth are highly nutritious. Fact—Neither yields as much nutriment as a half slice of bread.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Eisenhower, on his South American tour, laid great emphasis on the new, billion-dollar Inter-American Development Bank for promoting still better relations with the United States.

It won't be in business for some months, but has already opened its first offices in Washington. They're across Farragut Square from the World Bank. International Monetary Fund and subsidiaries. This makes a area Washington's new financial center for international lending agencies, with capital and resources of over 37 billion dollars.

IADB President Felipe Herrera, of Chile, has offices there along with Boston banker Robert Cutler, the U. S. director who serves with six Latin Americans on the executive board. Robert Menapace, formerly with Guaranty Trust of New York, executive vice president, is assembling the staff and getting ready for business.

The executive board will start regular daily meetings April 14. First capital subscriptions must be paid in by Sept. 30. Some time after that, IADB will be ready to receive loan applications.

THE FIRST QUESTIONS asked: "Why still another international lending institution on top of the half-dozen already in business, and what can the new one do that the others can't do?" Principal reason for its creation—over initial U. S. opposition—is that the Latin Americans wanted a bank of their own, independent of World Bank, U. S. Export-Import Bank and the others. The new bank will make loans in both hard and soft currencies, repayable in both kinds of money, as loaned.

One of the principal objectives is to make smaller private enterprise loans—down to $250,000 or so—that the bigger banks won't bother with.

The bank will make loans without government guarantees in countries receiving them. These loans will not have to be spent in the United States, as is required by Export-Import Bank. Loans will not be divided on a quota basis among the 21 republics. There is no plan now to open a branch bank in every country, though that is not forbidden by the charter.

THE BANK IS AUTHORIZED to make loans to local development companies in member countries. They will in turn make small loans to individual project borrowers.

The bank will not be in competition with private banks. Interest rates will probably go along with charges prevailing in each country.

But financial men expect IADB charges to shade and gradually force down interest rates in countries where they are extremely high, due to shortage of capital.

One brand-new field IADB will pioneer is in loans for technical assistance. Most of that now comes from UN Organization of American States or the U. S. International Cooperation Administration.

Shifting this type of aid to private enterprise on an individual project basis will be a first step toward reducing the government's role.

ANOTHER BENEFIT FROM the bank may be psychological or morale-building in nature. It is a hope that the bank will become first port-of-call for bewildered Latin-American businessmen who don't know how to make surveys on development projects, how to raise capital, or to make loan applications for expanding industry.

The bank will develop a staff of experts who can promote this economic growth inside Latin America. The language barrier will be minimized. And any projects developed which are too big for the bank to handle will be passed on to other institutions.

Truth, Via Radio, Is Urged To Free Cuba of Castro

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What to do about Cuba? How can a people in bondage be rescued? Years ago the short answer would have been to "land Marines" in order to "protect the lives and property of Americans." But that formula emphasizes military force. It impairs the independence of peoples and, when the Moscow regime did this in Hungary, the armed intervention outraged the world. No such program would be countenanced now in Cuba, and shouldn't be.

There is, however, a way to restore to the people of Cuba the independence and freedom which have been taken away from them by the dictatorship of Fidel Castro. It is a way that relies solely on moral force.

For today the people of Cuba are the prisoners of a dictatorship. They are being denied freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom of the press. Their economic future is in the hands of Communist-minded officials who are determined to satisfy their own lust for power.

Being only ninety miles away from the United States, the Cuban people are not helpless. They are threatened with an economic system that takes away individual initiative, alienates foreign capital and can bring economic chaos, with all the attendant hardships of unemployment. But in the United States there are millions of people who want to see the Republic of Cuba survive.

People Don't Know Truth

How shall the Cuban people be assisted? They do not know the truth of what is happening inside their own country today. Their own government uses the radio constantly to insult the government of the United States, which has always been Cuba's closest friend. These attacks are answered of course, in the press of this country, but the view-point of the United States government is not broadcast within Cuba.

Fortunately, the radio is a two-way system of communication. The friends of Cuba in the United States can be organized to carry on a constant flow of truthful information to the Cuban people. They can be told what a dangerous situation exists when the United States government is assailed and blamed for everything, including an accidental explosion of a munitions ship in Havana harbor.

Sees No Armed Threat

What was the purpose of the Castro government in bringing munitions to Cuba? Nobody is threatening to attack the island and, if any other nation did try it, the United States would gladly employ its forces to prevent such an invasion from being successful. There is no need for more armament inside Cuba.

President Eisenhower, in his report to the American people tonight, made this same point, as follows: "Many persons do not realize the United States is just as committed as are the other republics to the principles of the Rio treaty of 1947. This treaty declares that an attack on one American republic will in effect be an attack on all. We stand firmly by this commitment. This mutual security system, proved by time, should now enable some of the American republics to reduce expenditures for armaments, and thus make funds available for constructive purposes.

Would Warn People

There is need, however, for the millions of people inside Cuba to be made aware of the dangers they face if the Castro government continues its high-handed dictatorship. No regime can last long without the acquiescence of the people of any country. Cuba has had many dictatorships in the past, and Castro's successful revolution was supposed to be different from the rest. It has not turned out that way. No mention, for instance, is being made nowadays of the holding of any elections at which the people of Cuba would be able to choose their own government. One man and his Communist cohorts rule.

Without mentioning Cuba, President Eisenhower made this pointed statement in his latest speech:

"We believe in the right of peoples to choose their own form of government, to build their own institutions, to abide by their own philosophy. But if a tyrannical form of government were imposed from outside or with outside support—by force, threat, or subversion—we would certainly deem this to be a violation of the policy of non-intervention, and would expect the organization of American states, acting under several solemn commitments, to take appropriate collective action."

Could Use Radio in South

To enable the Cuban people to learn the whole truth, radio stations in the southern part of this country can be utilized to convey information to the island. Funds for this will no doubt be forthcoming from freedom-loving citizens of the United States and many countries in Latin America. For it is important that every country in this hemisphere be informed on how Communist infiltration operates and on how to get rid of Communist influence once it takes hold, as it has today in Cuba.

Radio voices of freedom, expressed in the Spanish language, would have the support of all liberty-loving persons in this hemisphere. Such a movement should not be related in any way to the plottings of certain exiles with a selfish purpose to serve. There are various dictatorships in some countries to the south of us, but none has imperilled its own international relationships as has the dictatorship in Havana.

It would be a triumph for reason as against military force if the people of Cuba could be given the facts about what is happening in their own country. They should learn the risks that are involved as their present government scares away the tourist trade, confiscates property, causes investors to turn away from Cuba, and generally demoralizes the economy of a country for whose independence many Americans gave their lives in the war with Spain nearly sixty-two years ago. 7 Escape Death As Tanker Craft Crashes in Fog

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Seven men escaped death as an Air Force jet tanker sliced off a power pole, unroofed a small building and crashed in thick fog Tuesday night.

The craft, a KC135, struck with a heavy roar 500 feet off the south end of the main runway at Carswell Air Force Base, where it was assigned to the 7th Air Refueling Squadron. It was one of the planes used by the Strategic Air Command for speedy in-flight refueling of the U.S. global bomber fleet.

Two men suffered burns and two others broken ankles. Base hospital attendants dismissed the other three after checkups.

Groping toward the field in zero visibility, the plane struck at 11:23 p.m. after taking the top off a state highway department warehouse. Texas Electric Service Co. troubleshooters timed the crash from a flash on a control panel for spotting cable breaks.

Lights went off in the River Oaks district, a residential area occupied by many servicemen opposite Carswell on Fort Worth's northwest side. Service was restored to most houses in a few minutes.

Listed as injured were Maj. William A. Krouse and Capt. Charles A. Forbes, the copilot, both with burns; and Maj. Raymond A. Yahr and Sgt. Robert C. Newman, boom operator, both with broken ankles.

Others aboard were Capt. Everett Caudwell, the pilot; Lt. James B. Lewis, navigator, and Lt. Col. Kenneth N. Morese, flight surgeon.

NY Congressmen Sponsored Most Bills Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York congressmen lead in introducing and sponsoring civil rights bills this year and last, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) says.

McClellan said Tuesday a table he prepared showed Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) introduced or sponsored more civil rights bills than any other Senator between Jan. 9, 1959, and last Feb. 24.

Javits' score was 24 introduced and 42 co-sponsored, McClellan said. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) was second among Republicans and fourth overall with 3 introduced and 18 co-sponsored. In the House, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY), a Negro, introduced 17 bills, the top total. Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D-NY) was second with 8.

House rules prohibit co-sponsoring bills.

Broken Brake Beam Caused Train Wreck

HERKIMER, N. Y. (AP)—Railroad spokesmen say a broken brake beam flipped 36 freight and mail cars from the tracks in a double derailment.

The beam broke on the 34th car of an 82-car, New York-bound freight, wedged into the roadbed and forced the car from the tracks, a New York Central spokesman said last night.

Twenty other cars of the freight followed, tumbling over a signal bridge. A westbound mail train hit the bridge and 15 more cars were jolted from the rails. The wreck occurred Tuesday morning.

While the wreckage blocked the four-main-line tracks, trains were rerouted over the Central's West Shore line. Some delays were reported.

Loan Closet Is Moved to Legion Hall in Tillson

The Town of Rosendale Loan Closet, formerly located at the Rosendale Grange, Main Street, was moved to larger quarters in the Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219, American Legion Hall, Tillson, recently.

This was made possible by Mayor John Vaughn who authorized the use of the village truck for this purpose and George Bockelman who is employed by the village. Chris Rainer assisted also with Mrs. Thomas Burns, chairman of the Woman's Club of Rosendale Loan Closet, which founded and supervises the operation of the Loan Closet, Mrs. Louis Mastro and Mrs. Wilfred Doolittle.

The loan closet, established about five years ago, permits the temporary use of such things as hospital beds, mattresses, wheelchairs, walkerettes, canes and other items which people may wish to borrow rather than buy. There is no charge for the service which is made possible by donations of many of the town groups such as the Tillson Fire Department and Auxiliary, Rosendale-Tillson American Legion and Auxiliary and private donations.

The Rosendale Grange has permitted the use of a room in the hall for storage of the items but contributions have made it possible to purchase additional needed equipment thereby making it necessary to move the items to the legion hall which the post is permitting to be used free of charge.

Anyone needing items may contact Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Stephen Reposky, Mrs. Benjamin Barbato or Mrs. Gene Van Winkle. The borrower will be responsible for picking up and returning items to the Legion hall in good condition.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Arthur Murphys think they have discovered a more effective fund-raising device than the charity telethon.

Murray guaranteed Bob Hope $100,000, to be donated to Fight for Sight, in exchange for Hope's offering himself as "fall guy" in a two-part heckling program.

The two half-hour shows, which will be televised on NBC next Tuesday and March 22, enlisted the talents of a number of stars. The programs, already on tape, were previewed earlier this week by the television writers. If you like the insult humor, these are pretty funny programs.

Murray is so pleased with the idea of these charity "roasts" of famous show business personalities that he plans to do a number of them next year.

"Arthur got the idea when he and I were the victims of a roast by the Circus Saints and Sinners," says Kathryn Murray. "It was amusing and fun."

Murray has been a systematic contributor to charities for some years. Among other things, he and the show have given away about 3,500 television sets to hospitals and nursing homes.

Now Victor Borge will have his children on his TV show. Fredrick and Victor, ages 4 and 5 will be featured guests on the comedian's March 18 NBC musical show.

Two of the hardest types to duck are the ones who carry family pictures in the wallet and the ones who want to show you their travel movies and slides. Nowadays our best TV performers bring the kiddies to work and show us their home movies on their programs.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 — with guests Gisele Mackenzie and Frankie Avalon; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11—second and final segment of a drama of an American dynasty, this called "Revolt at Hadley," with Richard Wiley, Mary Astor, Cedric Hardwicke and Rita Gam.

Wealthy Nations Start Today to Draft New Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine of the free world's wealthier nations begin today to draft a set of informal ground rules aimed to step up economic aid to less developed nations.

Led by the United States, Britain and France, the Allies tackle the problem at a special meeting called to devise better ways to offset the Soviet Union's mounting foreign economic offensive.

Others represented are Canada, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, Portugal and Japan.

Western countries attending the meeting funnel about 3 1/2 billion dollars to direct aid to other areas annually. The biggest chunk of this — about 2 1/2 billion dollars — comes from the United States.

The four-day conference, bringing together top economic representatives of the nine, is the first concrete step in an allied decision to pour even more money into Asia, the Middle East and Africa in the years ahead.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

In the Wednesday column of March 2, there was mention of a story called "The Stone in the Wall." It concerned the Maxwell House, a well-known hotel of Saugerties which was taken down in 1945.

According to previous information I received, it was taken by a Mr. Stewart. This morning I received a call from Mrs. Sterling Baker, and she told me it was taken down by her husband. Mrs. Baker knows a great deal about the stone, as it belongs to her. She said, that men working for her husband found it in the cobblestone chimney of the Maxwell House. Also were found antique candle snuffers, which she placed in the Fort Henry Museum.

She describes the stone, as white sapphire, hard enough to cut glass. It is triangular in shape, and very glossy. There are two dolphins holding up a shell as decorations and a gold top. It is quite large. Mr. Styles, the elder, a jeweler of Fair Street in Kingston cleaned it for her and told her it was a white sapphire. It seems to be of 13th or 14th century. She promised to show me this stone in the near future.

She also told me that her husband, Sterling Baker, took down Sahler's Sanitarium which was another interesting building. The Maxwell House in Saugerties was perhaps, she feels "about 130 years old and built on an older foundation."

Many of these old buildings have stories and histories attached to them that are forgotten and brought to light now and then through incidents like the above. It seems that travelers of long ago who came here in stagecoaches, or steamers, had various secrets, or gems, and may have hid them in just such places as a fireplace or chimney with hope of coming back for them later. Some did come back and some never came back, so the treasure remained until the building is torn down.

With March comes the big blizzards, so it seems. I see the Kingston Freeman and Journal, of Tuesday, March 10, 1914, Kingston was digging out of one. The item reads in part:

The cost of digging the city streets out after the visit of the big blizzard will not exceed $6,000. There has been paid from the emergency payroll $4,524 to the large force of snow shovelers and rigs that were put to work by Street Superintendent Van Keuren. The regular street force was paid $1,072 for the time spent in removing snow. . . .

All the main arteries of travel in the city have been cleared of the huge banks of snow and the streets made passable. . . . Even today many of the streets of New York City are impassable and yet that city has expended millions for the work of digging out the streets.

One of the advertisements in the paper reads:

"The best place to eat, when shopping in Kingston is at the Balcony Tea Room, in Carl's Department Store, best of service, regular dinners 35 cents. With a fabulous view of the Catskills." That is where Montgomery Ward store is today, and used to be Rose-Gorman.

Engagements Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Andre of LaFayette, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Beatrice Elaine, to George Lester Mills of New Paltz.

Paltz, Miss Andre is a senior at Newton High School. Mr. Mills is employed by Smiley Brothers.

A summer wedding is planned. Mrs. Mary McElree of Kerhonkson and James McElree of New Paltz have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lee, to Vincent Dugan, son of Frank Dugan of Peekskill. She is employed by Channel Master Corp., and her fiancé is employed by Tapper Poultry Farm. A summer wedding is planned.

Recreation Plans Are Announced at Village Meeting

NEW PALTZ—Lee Keator, chairman of the local Recreation Program Committee, presented the yearly report of the committee at the recent Village Board meeting.

He said the amount for salaries for the six-week period in 1959 was $2,645.00. Equipment costs were $753.98. Insurance was $167.87. Transportation was $432.50. The total expenditures amounted to $3,999.35.

He explained the program, saying that swimming and baseball were the most popular. Rated next were weaving, leather craft and games for the smaller children.

He said that the highlights for last year were the trip to the Baseball Hall of Fame and the Farmer's Museum, Cooperstown. Also included in the program were the annual trip to the Catskill Game Farm, Yankee Stadium and Baird Park.

Little League and Junior League were also allotted equipment necessary to carry on their program.

Keator said that the Recreation Committee received only two weeks of swimming at the Mike Moriello Park because of the construction work. The employees were paid five weeks salary and the park board received $500 for lifeguard services although the six-week program was not completed at the park.

He also said that the statement made by the Park Board that "they were turned down" by him for a modified program calling for swimming lessons from 9 a. m. to 12 noon was correct. He said it is believed that the children would not care to be taught swimming in the cool of the morning or play baseball in the heat of the afternoon. He went on to explain that the recreation committee had in the past done what the children wished to do and not what the committee wished. He wanted the children to come to the recreation program of their own free will to enjoy a summer of happy and healthy recreation.

Keator closed with the statement that he would like to ask the board to consider a recreation program for the coming year of 1960. He would like to have them appoint a member of the board to work with him. He also would like to have a meeting with the park board to plan for this year's program because this affects all the children of the area. This should be done, he said, before the village budget for recreation is made out. The town budget has as yet not been completed, but will be presented to them for approval at the next meeting this month.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Americans once given to counting their blessings might do well today to forget the stock market for a few minutes and look at the over-all scene.

Business isn't going to pot today at all.

Economic Blessings

The much-publicized cutbacks are from rather feverish activity in most cases. Getting back to a normal gait doesn't mean a recession is just around the corner. Sometimes "easy does it" is more healthy than "rush-rush."

Look at some of our economic blessings.

The total of personal incomes is at a record high and still rising. Even after taxes, Americans as a whole have more money to spend than ever before.

Retail trade is at a high level. It may be plagued by bad weather or by customer choosiness. But total consumer spending seems to be climbing to new highs in the coming spring.

Industrial output is at a record high. Even if it turns down a bit from the furious pace set in the unattractive situation after the steel strike, when many companies were trying to make up for lost ground, it seems likely to be higher than average for some time to come.

The two problem children of the industrial family—autos and steel—aren't behaving as badly as some seem to think.

Steel output is high, better than 2½ million tons a week. It is expected to ease off in the months ahead. But total 1960 output is still considered likely to top last year's.

Could Be One of Best

Auto sales have been running ahead of a year ago. But the goals the industry broadcast at the start of the year haven't been reached, and the high production set to meet them has piled up stocks to the point they must be readjusted, so output is being slowed for a time. Sales are still high, and if spring ever comes, there's hope they may go higher. This year should still be one of the best.

Business inventories may have risen faster than sales in January, but sales were rising. The fact that business, straining to catch up, was able to get its stocks in shape again in jig time is all to the good.

Tight money has worried borrowers and those who feared it would choke economic growth. There are signs today the money market is beginning to ease naturally and may ease more. The threat of more inflation is much less talked about, and governmental restraints may be relaxed.

Wife Has Duty to Master Family's Income Problems

BY FAYE HENLE

Do you trust your wife in financial matters?

I've recently discovered an interesting correlation between both income and pride that provides a clue to answering this question.

In the low to moderate income family the husband usually turns his pay check over to his wife. She understands the simple fact that until raises come 'round again, she will have just so many dollars to spend for food, clothing and shelter.

She hopes there will be no unforeseen emergencies that their savings cannot cover. The mileage she gets out of those dollars depends upon how well she learns to manage. Frequently, if she is able, she will go to work to increase her family's spending or savings potential.

When this family decides to move, to increase its insurance or in some other way alter its pattern of saving or spending, a family council is called with the wife usually sharing in the decision-making.

Among the wealthy, the wife, especially if she has money of her own, is well versed in matters financial. She is aware of tax bites and seeks to circumvent them. She may, or may not, take an active interest in her husband's business, but there is a pretty good chance that she is taking an active interest in the securities markets and with increasing frequency in real estate.

If she hasn't a head for figures, you can bet she has a head for names that at the other end of her phone is a source to tell her how much she'll make on a given investment.

It is in the lower level of the middle income strata that there is trouble. Here we've got Joe well on his way up the economic ladder but he can still remember his mother skipping pennies to buy his books. This man's pride won't allow his Jane's pretty head to be bothered by something as prosaic as money.

Many a wife in this predicament, if she has any sense at all, should emerge from her dreamland and discover just how income and outgo of the family's funds are related. She should do this with an eye to the future. Instead of throwing up her hands in horror, she should face up to her husband squarely and ask:

How do our income and spending match?

What are we doing to make our savings grow?

Do we have more debt than we should?

What kind of insurance do we have? What does it cover? Is it adequate for our present needs? Could we do with more or with less insurance?

How are we planning to finance college for the kids?

How much money can we depend upon when you retire?

When a wife is able to answer these questions, the chances are that she will have relieved her husband of a great burden and found a whole new field of interest to pursue.

It takes work to become the wife that can be trusted in matters financial. Yet, day after day, my attention is called to the material that is available for just this woman.

A great deal of this material is free, prepared by such groups as the Institute of Life Insurance, the American Bankers Association, the Association of Stock Exchange Firms, the National Association of Manufacturers who offer a lucid explanation of how our economy works via its "Program Notes" for women, and by other similar, nonpolitical, nonprofit organizations.

One of the important reasons for such emphasis on educating women in financial matters is the vast shifts expected in family incomes in the years ahead.

The expectation is that while 35 per cent of all families last year had incomes of $4,000 and under, only 20 per cent will be in this bracket by 1975. By then 15 per cent of all families are expected to be in the $8,000 to $10,000-a-year class and 20 per cent in the $10,000 to $15,000-a-year bracket against the former 9 per cent for each of these income spheres.

AMERICAN MENU

Rich, Strong, Sweet and Smooth — That's Irish Coffee

BRIGHT green candy shamrocks atop a large chocolate cream one-plus Irish coffee—help celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Food and Markets Editor

Mary Frances Keating of Dublin, noted in Irish cookery, has dined at our home on a St. Patrick's Day. She told us how to make Irish coffee, a fitting beverage for celebrating the feast of her country's patron saint. Now to those readers who have frequently asked for the recipe, here it is straight from the vivacious and charming Miss Keating, herself:

Irish Coffee

Cream — Rich as an Irish brogue
Coffee — Strong as a friendly hand

Sugar — Sweet as the tongue of a rogue

Irish Whisky — Smooth as the wit of the land

Into a stemmed six or eight-ounce glass pour one jigger of Irish whisky (the only whisky which combines naturally with coffee, Miss Keating said). Fill glass to within one-half inch of brim with your favorite black coffee—hot and strong. Add sugar to taste and stir well. Top off with slightly whipped cream so that cream floats.

Note: Do not stir after adding cream, as the unique flavor is obtained by drinking the hot coffee and Irish whisky through the cool cream.

For a less high-spirited St. Patrick's Day item, but a delicious one, here's a chocolate shamrock mold for all the family:

Chocolate Shamrock Mold

(Makes 5 or 6 servings)

One square unsweetened chocolate, 1½ cups rich milk, 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 1/3 cup sugar, dash of salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Add chocolate to milk in saucepan and heat. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine gelatin and cold water in mixing bowl; mix well. Add hot chocolate mixture, sugar and salt and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Add vanilla. Chill until slightly thickened.

Place in bowl of ice and water and whip with rotary egg beater until light and foamy throughout. Turn into 1½-quart shamrock mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve plain or with whipped cream. If desired, decorate with candy shamrocks.

Note: If desired, whipping may be omitted. Chill mixture until slightly thickened, turn into individual molds. Makes 4 servings.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Blended tomato and clam juice, corned beef, parsley boiled potatoes, quick-cooked cabbage wedges, boiled whole carrots, soda bread, butter or margarine, chocolate shamrock mold, coffee, tea, milk.

That's the number of steps the typical housewife takes on a typical day. Doing the cooking, the shopping—and the million and one other chores she handles at home and around town.

It's sure a lot of steps. But think how many more she'd have to take—if it weren't for her telephone. If she had to go, in person, everywhere her phone takes her each day. No wonder so many housewives agree that "few things serve so well, yet cost so little" as the telephone.

Gives Annual Report
Dr. Bibby in his annual report to the board voiced his appreciation to all town chairmen, workers and board members who made it possible to surpass the campaign goal of $23,000.

The board is especially appreciative of the corps of volunteer drivers who faithfully transport many of the handicapped children to and from their therapy sessions, Dr. Bibby said. It would be impossible for the association to maintain the center without the continued interest and financial aid given by the Kingston IBM Club, Kingston Kiwanis, Kingston Lions and the Fifty Club. "We are greatly indebted to Captain 'Yank' Albrecht for the vast amount of equipment made and kept in repair this past year," he said.

Mrs. Telford Graham, telephone chairman, reported over $2,000 had been received to date from pledges made Jan. 16-17. There are still many unpaid pledges. Gratitude was expressed to Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Rabbi Bloom, Mrs. Dudley W. Hargrave and Loughran; Larry Jensen, parents and children and staff members who participated in the project; to B'nai B'rith under the direction of Mrs. Merrel Stone for maintaining the phones; Haltermann who arranged for the telephone service; Ronald Drown of the Governor Clinton Hotel; Hadley Williams of Cablevision who made it possible to view the television on cablevision; Harry E. Coale of the Kingston Telephone Answering Service who took the calls during the early hours of the morning; all radio stations and the press.

Ritche Memorial
A resolution to dedicate a fitting memorial to Dr. Saul Ritche, medical director of the CP in Ulster County, who died in November, 1959.

A copy of the resolution, commending the unstinting service of Dr. Ritche will be filed in the permanent records of the organization and a copy will be sent to the family. Officers, directors and staff members expressed appreciation "for his talent, experience, knowledge and humane insight which he freely expended for the benefit of the suffering who attended the clinic."

Herman Schwenk reported to the board that the third speech therapy room is in the process of being prepared for use.

Kingston Water Excellent, PLWW Spokesman Hears

Kingston's water is of excellent quality, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, emphasized in a discussion Tuesday with Mrs. Richard I. Kobran, of 299 Hurley Avenue, member of a special water study committee of the Provisional League of Women Voters of Kingston.

It is excellent in quality in the raw state, flowing as it does from mountain sources into Cooper Lake, he said, and it gets the best possible filter plant treatment.

Mrs. Kobran made inquiries as a member of a committee on water supply and laws relating to it. Stream pollution and other factors pertinent to community water systems were discussed.

Details of an article pointing to dangers of water pollution, published recently in a national magazine, were discussed. None of the major dangers cited appear to apply locally.

A report due to be given Thursday night to the water board on proposed improvements and modernization of the department, will be preliminary and will not cover all phases of a study authorized last June, Cloonan said. It is being made by Clinton Bogert Engineers, of New York City. Charles Mangano, an associate engineer of the firm is due to give the report.

Several phases of the study are still to be completed before a full report is to be given, Cloonan said. It will be the first major survey since 1925, and will cover city requirements, water sources, storage, treatment, transmission, distribution, and programming of improvements.

Macera Is Fined

fice on the Democratic ticket and is now serving as town superintendent.

Leniency Is Asked

Stewart Jones of Troy, attorney for Macera told the court that Macera was facing sentence on his 49th birthday and he asked that leniency be shown. Macera was only a "little man" and had never before been involved in any difficulty. A resident of Greene County for about 25 years, he came before the court as a highly respected individual in his community.

Prior to imposition of sentence by Justice Greenberg, Tompkins called attention of the court to the Austin J. Boyd case where Boyd, an official of the Lansell Road Oil Corporation, was fined $5,000. He said Boyd's activities had been much greater than Macera's and he was also an official of the company while Macera was only an employee.

Says Charge Serious

In pronouncing sentence Justice Greenberg said Macera may be just a "little man" but the charge was of a serious nature. Justice Greenberg said he had been criticized by members of the bar for previous comments which he had made from the bench but he again said that there appeared to be a concerted effort to obstruct justice in Ulster County.

A prior indictment against Macera was dismissed and bail exonerated.

In the Morgan D. Ryan bribery case Tompkins asked Justice Greenberg to fix a final date for defense counsel to make motions before the court.

N. Levan Haver, counsel for Ryan, said he had no intention of making any further motions before the extraordinary term of Justice Greenberg. Any additional motions would be made directly to the Appellate Division. He said he had no objection to limiting the time for motions before Justice Greenberg. A final date for motions in the Ryan case was fixed by Justice Greenberg for April 15.

Senator's Death Brings Truce in Rights Marathon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The death of Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) brought a one-day truce today in the bitter Senate battle over civil rights.

Colleagues turned to eulogies of the Oregon senator, and planned to recess afterwards until 9:30 a. m. (Est) Thursday in respect to Neuberger's memory.

On developments in the civil rights battle to date, Southerners could claim a first-round victory while looking forward to another Thursday in the first major vote.

Outlook for Passage
Yet the outlook still was for eventual passage of a voting rights bill stronger than the Southerners want although not going as far as ardent civil rights backers would like to go.

The Dixie bloc won the initial round with a decision of the leadership Tuesday to call of around-the-clock sessions which had tied the Senate in knots through six all-night meetings.

Thursday's test will come with a vote on a petition, filed by 23 Democrats and 8 Republicans who call themselves liberals, to put a limit on debate. There appears to be no chance that this will get the two-thirds support required to invoke cloture—the Senate's name for a restriction on debate.

May Vote Thursday
Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas proposed that this vote come at 2 p. m. EST Thursday.

Johnson reiterated, in a talk with reporters, his view that the filing of the cloture petition "is very premature—and it will not get the job done—it will only prolong debate."

Similarly, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) has taken a stand that cloture effort now is premature. He and Johnson both said they would vote against it.

The leaders take the view that a clearer understanding must be developed as to what type of bill is to be passed before a successful effort can be made to shut off the 18 Southern filibusters.

Using a three-team system, the Southerners have demonstrated that they can not be halted by round-the-clock sessions.

Johnson made it clear he believes an adverse vote on cloture would merely encourage the Southerners, declaring the result "will prolong debate instead of curtailing it."

Nixon Counts Self Out
Dirksen and other Republicans who talked with Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Senate floor Tuesday night, said afterward he had counted himself out of any effort now to round up the needed votes for cloture.

However, it seemed certain that Johnson and Dirksen did expect to get the necessary two-thirds for cloture at some future time.

Some senators believe the vehicle for a successful cloture vote eventually will be the House civil rights bill when it arrives in the Senate, probably next week. That branch opens its debate on the subject Thursday.

The House bill is expected to be less far-reaching than the proposals now before the Senate.

The Senate plans to continue its civil rights debate today.

There was a possibility of a vote on one of the strongest of the civil rights measures, a proposal to empower the attorney general to bring injunctions to enforce all types of rights.

Finch Jury Asks About Map Data

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "How long is an inch?"

The jury weighing the guilt or innocence of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, interrupted their deliberations Tuesday to ask that question.

A bailiff — summoned by the jury foreman — began to search for a ruler. But he was called back.

"Never mind," he was told. "We have one."

They didn't explain but one guess was that they wanted to measure something on a scale map of the area in which the Finch home is located.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, are charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Both crimes carry a possible death penalty.

The five men and seven women of the jury were given the case late Friday.

So far, they have spent only little more than 12 hours in the cheerless little jury room.

Soon after starting deliberations they asked to be read more than 400 pages of testimony—much of it dealing with the doctor's own story of what happened the night his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, was shot to death last July 18.

The state says she was murdered. Dr. Finch says a pistol discharged accidentally, fatally wounding her, as he tried to throw it away.

Youth Court Act Arguments Ready For Conference

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Supporters and opponents of the controversial Youth Court Act will argue their cases Saturday before the Judicial Conference, top administrative body for New York State courts.

The conference then will decide what position to take on the postponed act. Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond of the Court of Appeals said.

The act was approved by the Legislature in 1956 but its effective date has been postponed each year since passage in response to opposition by county judges, law enforcement authorities and newspaper organizations.

There are indications another postponement will be given by the current Legislature. Otherwise, the act will go into effect April 1.

Opposition has been based on claims the proposed Youth Courts would be unwieldy and expensive. Newspapers are against the greater secrecy thrown around youthful offenders and law enforcement officials maintain the softer treatment would encourage youthful criminals.

Sen. John H. Hughes, Syracuse Republican who sponsored the act, will be one of those heard by the conference in New York City.

Opponents will be represented by two county judges, Martin Schenck of Albany and William B. Groat of Queens.

The act would provide special court treatment, including secret proceedings and records, for youths 16 through 20.

West Virginia has 21 state parks and forest reserves.

Strikers Needed For Defense Job

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Carrier Corp. is asking the United Steelworkers Union to allow 60 striking employees to go back to work on air conditioning systems for Navy Polaris missile-firing submarines.

Carrier will submit to the union today a list of employees needed for the defense contract.

The union said it would study the list and allow men it thought were necessary to complete the job to return to work.

Carrier said Tuesday night the first of 13 absorption machine air-conditioning plants was scheduled for delivery March 25.

Local 5895 of the steel workers struck last Wednesday because Carrier suspended the local's president and reprimanded four other local officials.

The company claimed Francis Brewer, local president, refused to do work assigned to him. Carrier said the others encouraged employees to refuse to work over time.

The strike idled 3,070 hourly workers at Carrier's two plants here. However, more than 2,300 non-union salaried employees continued to work in offices and laboratories.

Mill Is Expecting New Facilities Ready for April

Kingston Knitting Mills, Inc., at Cornell Street and Ten Broeck, announces that major expansion activities are underway, and the new layout should be ready for use by early April.

The knitting mill will occupy over 60,000 feet of production area, in addition to 20,000 feet of warehouse space for finished goods.

The latest mechanization and modern flow methods are being utilized to assure operations at peak performance as well as the latest equipment in the Knitting, Washing, Sewing and Finishing Departments. A firm of consultant industrial engineers is working with Kingston Knitting Mills personnel on the new layout. A completely new electrical system is being installed throughout the entire plant and the old electrical system will be torn out. Conveyors, fork lift trucks, chutes, and other means of mechanization and materials handling will be employed to obtain a smooth flow of goods in process.

In addition to production modernization, service facilities for personnel will also be improved. A new lunchroom is being constructed, which will be decorated in the theme of knitting mill manufacturing by a local artist, rest rooms will be refurbished, and the most modern lighting system will be installed throughout the plant.

Robert E. Davis, president, has announced that Kingston Knitting Mills expects to hold an open house after the move is completed for Kingston Knitting Mills personnel, their families and friends. Kingston Knitting Mills has been located locally for 26 years, and manufactures men's and boys' knitted outerwear. The mill is one of the largest of its kind in the industry.

3,001,267 Cars Safety Checked During the Year

ALBANY — Inspection stations licensed by New York State conducted 3,001,267 car safety checks during the fiscal year ending January 31. Commissioner of Motor Vehicles William S. Huels announced today. Vehicles through the model years of 1955 were required to be inspected.

Approximately 45 per cent of all vehicles checked failed to pass on first inspection of brakes, lights, wheel alignment and steering apparatus, according to the report.

As a result of rejections, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles suspended the registrations and license plates of 10,213 vehicles pending approval; 2,682 as a follow-up on convictions of operating a vehicle without a valid inspection sticker, and 948 through reports of bureau licenese examiners.

Of this number, 9,264 suspensions were removed on receipt of subsequent inspection approvals, sales of vehicles or notice that unrepairable vehicles had been junked.

During the year, state police investigated 330 complaints against stations, and made 32,270 investigations of inspection stations. From these investigations, 655 hearings were held by bureau referees after which 213 licenses were suspended and 82 were revoked.

Rescue Crew Near 18 Trapped Men In Virginia Mine

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—A rescue crew has worked its way behind the fire that has trapped 18 men four miles in a coal mine for more than 24 hours.

How they did it wasn't known, but an Island Creek Coal Co. spokesman said the fire was definitely under control and had been bypassed, perhaps by means of a tunnel parallel to the gas and fume-filled section of the mine.

"They (the crew) should be within 500 feet of where the trapped men are believed to have barricaded themselves," the spokesman said.

Word Raised Hopes

The word raised hopes again that the miners would be rescued alive.

"We're very hopeful," said N.T. Camicia, vice president of operations.

Outside the mine, eight miles southwest of here, near the Kentucky border, men manning the crews and marshaling materials outnumbered the crowd of relatives and others, thinned by the bitter weather.

New snow up to four inches, was forecast for the area, and temperatures were in the teens.

The snow started soon after daybreak, and mountain roads in the area were turned into slick slides, impeding travel.

State police sent a rush call to the Road Commission for cinder-ing crews and plows.

"We assume that the trapped men have barricaded themselves off," said Robert M. Johnson, manager of Island Creek. The company's Holden No. 22 mine is eight miles from this southern West Virginia city.

Also optimistic was Crawford L. Wilson, the state mines chief who arrived here about 5 a.m. and conferred with mine officials for 15 minutes. Afterward he said, "our hopes are high."

"We are confident the fire has been contained," Wilson said. "There is no evidence of fire being visible, but there is steam and heat. Plans are made to proceed with fresh air to the area where we think the men are."

Safety Director Trapped

Johnson said one of those trapped is William K. Donaldson, mine safety director, who could guide the men in survival tactics. "He's had experience with this sort of emergency," said Johnson.

The manager said flames had broken out on both sides of the slate fall. A team of 40 men battled in smoke and fumes to put out the blaze that ate into coal and slate and timber props.

Rescuers couldn't move on 2,000 feet further, where the imprisoned were believed to be, until the fires were practically out.

Officials theorized that the slate fall that triggered the 200-foot long blockade broke a trolley wire which ignited coal and timbers.

Black from burrowing through coal and dirt in a 14-inch ventilation passage, Willis Carter, 46, and Kyle Blair, 29, told how they crawled on their bellies for nearly three hours in a dramatic escape.

They Wouldn't Listen

Carter, whose brother James is one of those trapped, said eight or 10 other workers also could have escaped.

"I tried to get them to follow me, but they wouldn't listen," said Carter, who is responsible for ventilation at the mine.

Carter figured the two crawled 2,240 feet through the narrow tunnel. He said some of the men remained behind on orders from their foreman.

For a time after the accident the trapped men were safe in a well-ventilated area. They talked by telephone with those on the outside. Then the phone went dead, presumably because a cable burned.

Farmhand Given

Judge said, "For a thing of that kind you have got to be punished."

The judge noted that alcohol had been a serious factor in Brown's difficulties. In his probation department you had let your drinking get out of hand," Judge Schwartz said, "and that's what you did."

The judge recalled that a trooper in Columbia County had stopped Brown for having only one headlight on his car before the accident, but let him continue on with the promise he would have the light replaced.

"That trooper should have put you off the road until the light was repaired," Schwartz said.

Retired Employees Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the National Association of Retired Civil Service Employees will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue. Refreshments and a social hour will follow the business meeting.

NH Gives . . .

votes, topping Eisenhower's total of 13,556.

The Massachusetts senator even pulled some Republican votes. The dimensions of Kennedy's victory took on added significance by comparison to the last two New Hampshire primaries.

In the 1952 primary, the Republicans cast about 77 per cent of the total vote. Four years later, they racked up 65 per cent. The spread in Tuesday's selection was about 55-45 per cent between the two parties, with the Republicans on top.

Scooped All Delegates

As expected, Nixon and Kennedy scooped up all the delegates to their respective nominating conventions — 14 Republicans each with a full vote, and 22 Democrats who share 11 votes.

Efforts on the part of admirers of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to roll up a sizeable vote for him failed to bear fruit.

The governor, who did not enter the race and therefore was not on the ballot, received 7,512 write-in votes for president in 257 of the 300 precincts. Another 1,700 write-in votes were cast for him for vice president.

Paul C. Fisher, Chicago manufacturer, who ran against Kennedy on the Democratic ballot got 5,682 votes in the tally of 251 precincts.

Several factors affected the election.

1. Kennedy campaigned hard in the state in the last three days before the election. Members of his family, including his mother and two of his brothers, stumped the state earlier.

2. Nixon did not appear in New Hampshire. His campaign, however, was spearheaded by Gov. Wesley Powell and most of the leading Republicans in New Hampshire.

Kennedy Accused

3. A sharply worded exchange of charges and retorts probably steamed up interest among voters who previously had been apathetic. On the day before the election, Powell accused Kennedy of being "soft toward communism." Kennedy hit back with a denial and the assertion that he believed Nixon would repudiate Powell's charge. The vice president, through one of his aides, did so.

Kennedy headed directly for Wisconsin where he is engaged in a struggle against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the primary election, April 5.

Kennedy's victory in New Hampshire was expected — although the vote exceeded the hopes of his most optimistic backers.

Kennedy Hopes NH Votes Will Bolster Support

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today he hopes his New Hampshire primary showing will solidify Democratic support of his bid for the party's presidential nomination.

"I'm very happy about it. We did better than I thought we would," the Massachusetts senator beamed in commenting on the nation's first primary election returns.

Kennedy told a group of students and newsmen at the University of Wisconsin that his latest information put him just 17,000 votes behind the unopposed Republican candidate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The Kennedy vote of 40,247 with 39 precincts outstanding nearly doubled what Sen. Estes Kefauver polled in New Hampshire in 1956, he said.

"I think it shows we've made substantial inroads in New Hampshire," he said, "and I think it shows New Hampshire Democrats are interested in my campaign."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market acted a lot better today than at any time in at least the last eight sessions.

A brisk little rally got under way shortly before noon, sending an already steady market generally higher. Electronics, steels and motors paced this advance.

The market appeared to be helped by a published statement of S. Clark Beise, president of the Bank of America, that he sees no reason to change his earlier expectations of a good business year.

Radio Corp., selling ex-dividend, was active and more than 1 point higher in the strong electronics group.

The steels and motors, about the hardest hit groups in the steep decline since the start of 1960, moved up for gains extending to more than 1 point.

Rails also did well. Baltimore and Atlantic Coast Line ran ahead more than 1 point.

Chamber Favors

W. Egbert and Richard E. McNaughton.

The Chamber is now in the process of establishing new committees for the fiscal year starting on May 1. The directors were asked for suggestions and members are invited to volunteer their services.

Three New Members

Three new membership applications were approved. They are the Green Mountain Construction Co., 55 Wiltwyck Avenue, represented by John P. Gerber, the new Kingston Hotel, Corner of Fair and John Streets, Sam K. Smith, proprietor and Feyes Liquor Store, 240 Clinton Avenue.

The Traffic and Transportation Committee recommended a conference with Kurt G. Rauer, district engineer for the State Department of Public Works, to discuss the progress toward construction of the Route 209 bypass, the removal of the Washington Avenue Viaduct, improvement of Route 9-W approach to Kingston from Port Jervis, and several other needed area highway improvements. It was decided to request a conference to discuss these matters.

A third group will start the Action Course in Practical Politics, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. This group will hold its first session in the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:30 p. m., Monday evening, March 14. S. James Matthews was selected as the discussion leader. Enrollment will be limited to 20 persons. Anyone interested should contact the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce promptly.

Junior Chamber Projects

Ernest Rowe, president of the Kingston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, an ex-officio member of the board of directors, reported on projects sponsored by his organization. They included the Miss New York State Pageant, Easter Egg Hunt for Children, Little League for young baseball players and the erection of the first "Welcome to Kingston" sign on McEntee Street at the intersection with Wurts Street.

A special committee was appointed to revise and arrange for the printing of a new general information brochure published by the Chamber. The supply of the last reprint has been exhausted. A total of 10,000 copies of the last edition have been distributed. They are paid for entirely by membership income.

The next regular meeting of the Chamber board of directors will be held April 12.

Labor Council Statement

Attending the meeting from the Building and Construction Trades Council were George E. Yerry Jr., local labor leader, and delegates Thomas Mitchell, representing the electricians; Stephen Gill, representing the painters; Julius Lamanec, representing the carpenters; George Nagy, representing bricklayers, and Cornelius Courtney, representing the plumbers and steamfitters.

The Council expressed its views relating to a number of news releases issued by the Chamber of Commerce supporting certain matters of proposed legislation, which, if they should become law, will adversely affect all workers, union and non-union.

In a statement presented the representatives of the Trades Council said:

"We recognize the right of all employer organizations to take any action they may desire to influence legislation affecting their interests as employers."

"However, it is our opinion that legislation that reduces the financial benefits of the working men and women may produce a benefit for employers engaged in manufacturing and similar occupations but can only have a harmful effect on those of you who are engaged in merchandising activity. It is to be regretted that the campaign begun by your organization against benefits won by the worker over many years is resulting in a feeling of distrust against the Chamber of Commerce."

The statement of the Trades Council cites several bills which it was alleged would adversely affect workers.

In conclusion the statements of the Council said:

"It has been alleged that a change in the business climate will materially aid the worker. The past record of Chambers of Commerce which opposed social reforms as Workmen's Compensation, Unemployment Insurance, Bank Insurance, Old Age Benefits, Mortgage Insurance and numerous other social changes makes the worker suspicious of the motives advanced by employer groups."

"Our representatives have interviewed a number of merchants in this city regarding these matters and we were assured by each and every one of them that they were not in favor of the position taken by your organization. It is our request that the Chamber of Commerce reconsider its position and, along with us, oppose all bills which will reduce the buying power of the worker."

Princess to Wed

abeth, said it would be a morning wedding, at 11:30.

The bridesmaids and best man were not named.

Margaret's sister, the Queen, and Prince Philip also were married at the Abbey, on Nov. 20, 1947, with the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, officiating. He is the highest prelate of the Church of England.

The marriage of Elizabeth, then a princess, was broadcast. The British Broadcasting Corp. wants to televise Margaret's wedding, and Britain's commercial television network probably will ask to do likewise.

Before 30th Birthday

The marriage will take place two and a half months before Margaret's 30th birthday, which falls on Aug. 21. Armstrong-Jones was 30 on Monday.

The Daily Mail, which correctly predicted the date this morning, said Princess Alexandra and Princess Anne were certain to be bridesmaids, and that Prince Charles, the heir to the throne, might be a page.

The wedding is likely to jam London with the biggest crowds since Elizabeth's coronation in 1952.

The Daily Mirror said that Armstrong-Jones, who has had some slight experience as a designer of women's sports tops, is designing Margaret's wedding dress.

He has already completed the rough sketches, which will form the basic plan for the royal dressmaker, the newspaper said, "and he is now discussing his ideas with the princess."

The engagement of Margaret and Armstrong-Jones was announced on Feb. 26.

Strafing Causes Injury to 19 at Sukarno Palaces

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A jet fighter strafed two of President Sukarno's palaces and a fishing village today, wounding 19 persons.

Officials blamed a disgruntled Indonesian air force pilot, a second lieutenant whose father was arrested a few weeks ago for illegal possession of arms.

President Sukarno's Merdeka (Freedom) Palace in downtown Jakarta was the first target. The jet, identified by Radio Jakarta as a MIG-17, dived low and sprayed the palace with machine-gun bullets. Three persons within the palace and a painter working outside were wounded. Radio Jakarta announced.

Sukarno and his five children, however, escaped injury. The children were in the palace as the bullets cut several holes in the roof and walls. Sukarno was presiding over a meeting of the Supreme Advisory Council in an adjacent building.

The lieutenant took off from Kemajoran airfield here. After firing on Merdeka Palace he headed his jet 35 miles south of Jakarta to Bogor, where he strafed the Bogor Palace.

Finally, he flew to the fishing village of Tjilintjint, 10 miles northeast of Jakarta, and sprayed bullets there. Fifteen persons were wounded.

for community service and second-year awards to industrial concerns for employee participation in the 1960 campaign.

Lutzin cautioned all agencies about constantly reevaluating the programs in order to keep attuned to the health and welfare and recreational needs of the community. He said that both governmental and private agencies should coordinate their programs in order to avoid duplication and overlapping of services.

Agency Work Vital

He emphasized the value of agency work rather than public slogans.

The delinquency rate is dropping in upper New York State, even in New York City, he said. In the city the delinquency rate of increase has been arrested.

The lowest percentage rate of delinquency increase since 1938 was reported in the state during the past year.

He listed as reasons for this decline more municipal services, juvenile aid bureaus within the police department, youth boards throughout the state, increased psychiatric and psychological and social work services, and the participation of individual citizens and their personal involvement in delinquency problems.

Man Admits Theft From Blind Woman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An unemployed clerical worker who said he kept from going hungry by stealing from a blind woman's concession stand in the courthouse agrees "it's pretty rotten."

Carl Edward Hammond, 37, was charged with theft Tuesday after Sheriff T. O. Lang arrested him near the stand.

The stand, operated by Miss Nell Scales, is run on an "honor system" in which patrons make their own change from bowls on the counter.

Hammond was held without bail. He gave his address as 23 Gramercy Place, New York.

Lang said Hammond admitted stealing "maybe half a dozen sandwiches" and short-changing the blind owner on several occasions.

Hammond told a newsman he had been unable to get a job because he was too short of money to make a good appearance.

Chessman Plight Starts Debate on Death Penalty

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A condemned prisoner in San Quentin Prison touched off the debate which opens today in the California Legislature over Gov. Edmund Brown's plea to abolish the death penalty.

Pickets paced before the capital Tuesday with placards denouncing capital punishment. A hunger striker turned up. A rodeo performer rode in on horseback from San Francisco with petitions for repeal.

The legislation, welded to the case of kidnaper Caryl Chessman, seemingly faced defeat by the Senate Judiciary Committee at its first hearing. Only three of the 15 members openly supported the bill. Previous attempts at repeal have failed.

Even so, a long line of witnesses waited to testify.

There were clergymen, college professors, and a former prosecutor to speak for the bill.

Principally, district attorneys and police chiefs constitute the other side.

Abolitionists back Brown's position that the death penalty is morally wrong, fails to deter crime, and claims mostly the poor and weak.

Defenders of the law contend society is entitled to this protection against murder.

He said the $1,000 spent in the immediate area last year is equal to 50 per cent of all the funds collected in the Town of Saugerties during 1959.

He cited the $10,000,000 spent by the Red Cross in relief for the Connecticut flood victims a few years ago.

Duffy said 50 per cent of the funds raised in the county stay here for local relief when needed.

Rescuers Fought Blinding Storm To Save 10 Men

GRANADA, Spain (AP) — A Spanish rescue team fought its way through a blinding snowstorm today to bring to safety 10 of 24 survivors aboard a U.S. Navy plane that crash-landed high in the Sierra Nevada. No one was killed in the crash.

The 10 were reported unhurt although previous reports, brought down the mountain Tuesday night by two other survivors after an eight-hour struggle, had said all of the remaining 22 aboard the four-motor plane were injured.

Only five of the 12 still to be brought down are injured, the rescue team reported, and their injuries are not serious.

Rescue teams from all of the surrounding villages had battled throughout the night in an effort to reach the big C-54, which crash-landed in heavy fog while en route from Naples, Italy, to the U.S. naval base at Rota, Spain.

The crash happened in one of the most rugged and inaccessible sections of the Sierra Nevada.

Republican Slated As Truman Speaker

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Republican Gov. George D. Clyde of Utah was invited to be the principal speaker at the annual Truman Day dinner in Seattle on May 9.

He accepted with delight, saying this must mean the Washington State Democrats and former President Harry S. Truman "have seen the political light."

In a letter of acceptance Tuesday Clyde said he would speak on the principles of Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover and Dwight D. Eisenhower, which, he said, "must guide us through the critical days ahead."

But in Seattle, Democratic State Rep. Jon Marvin Jonsson, who extended the invitation to Clyde in a letter, said apparently his secretary sent the invitation through "an unaccountable error."

Jonsson said Clyde could "attend the dinner and be enlightened," but no speech.

Rocky Expected To Sign Bill on Junior Driving

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A bill that would restrict after-dark driving by junior operators was before Gov. Rockefeller today for his expected approval.

Meanwhile, a Senate-approved measure that would stiffen penalties for drivers who leave the scene of an accident involving death or injury went to the Assembly.

The bill that would require a parent or guardian to accompany junior operators after dark was part of the administration's highway safety program. It was approved by the Assembly Tuesday.

The parent or guardian would not have to be licensed. They also would be permitted to designate persons to act for them.

At present, junior operators must be accompanied by a driver holding a regular license.

Charles D. Henderson (R-Hornell), Assembly sponsor of the measure, said that while junior operators made up only two per cent of the licensed drivers in the state, they caused about six per cent of the total auto accidents each year.

The hit-run measure, passed unanimously Tuesday night by the Senate, would provide maximum penalties for convicted motorists of one year in jail, a $250 fine and loss of driver's license for one year. A second violation would be a felony.

The measure specifies that the driver must know a person was killed or injured.

It was sponsored by Sen. Edward J. Speno (R-Nassau), chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles.

Hit-run driving resulting in personal injury is punishable at present by a maximum of 30 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Kneads No Help

CORN, Okla. (AP) — When Mrs. W. J. Litke got ready to make a shopping trip to nearby Cordell she found she had a problem. A pan of dough had to be kneaded now and then. So she took it with her and between visits to stores stopped at the car to give the dough another punch or two.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"You're a scream, Clyde—you ought to be a comedian."

Everybody has heard such a remark made to a life-of-the-party type. Well, here's a fellow who took that suggestion—a little late—and he's making himself a fortune.

His name is Shelley Berman. He looks as if he might be a salesman. He is. But instead of neckties or women's wear, he sells his own antic way of looking at things.

Life of the Party

His salesmanship has brought him top money as a TV guest, $3,000 a week in night clubs, as much per night in auditoriums and the biggest comedy record sales since the Two Black Crows. It all started at parties.

"Sure, I was one of those life-of-the-party boys," he admits, "thought I never stooped to wearing women's hats or lampshades. I was always making everybody laugh, in school and later in life. I see kids who do the same thing nowadays, and you know what? I hate 'em."

Berman didn't realize his comic possibilities until late.

"I didn't want to be a comedian," he says. "I had dreams of being an actor. For 10 years I tried, picking up small jobs in summer stock and TV. I had a hard time of it."

The break came just two and a half years ago. He tried out for a comedy job at Mister Kelly's night club in Chicago. He was hired, then he had to write routines furiously to have enough to say in front of an audience.

He scored in Chicago, but his next date was in Las Vegas: "They didn't laugh; they didn't even talk. They just sat there in amazement."

Differs From Others

But he stayed on the saloon circuit, leaning all the while.

Berman differs from the other new comics in that he is actually funny in himself, not just wry or satiric.

"I don't really know how to classify myself," he admits, "except that perhaps I am a humanist humorist."

His biggest pleasure from his success? "It's watching my wife enjoy things—like sitting around a hotel pool or dressing up for a party. It's so great to see her having fun after what she went through for me."

Gilbert Is Easy Winner in Bronx For House Seat

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic State Sen. Jacob H. Gilbert has won a landslide victory in the race for U. S. representative from the 23rd Congressional District in The Bronx.

Complete returns Tuesday night gave Gilbert an unofficial total of 4,579 votes. Republican Simon M. Koenig got 575, and Liberal Hector Mathew got 411.

The special election was held to fill a vacancy left when former U. S. Rep. Isidore Dolinger, a Democrat, was elected Bronx district attorney last November.

Health Programs Need Public Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—Public support of mental health programs is needed at both the state and local levels, Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday night in a statewide telecast.

With the governor on the program was Dr. Paul H. Hoch, state mental hygiene commissioner.

Rockefeller said more facilities and more trained personnel would permit state hospitals to give earlier treatment to persons afflicted by mental disturbances and cut the length of their stay in institutions.

"With your understanding and support," the governor told his audience, "we can make this state, for all our people, a happier, brighter place to live."

Gittelson Given N.Y. Health Post

ALBANY—The provisional appointment of Alan M. Gittelson as Director of Health Statistics for the State Health Department was announced today by Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, State Health Commissioner. His salary will be $12,346 a year.

Gittelson succeeds Joseph V. DePorte, who retired.

Prior to his appointment, he spent three months in Yugoslavia as Biostatistical Consultant to the Health Division of the International Cooperation Administration. During this time, he helped develop a health statistics program for the Yugoslavian government.

Gittelson began his public health work in 1949, as a junior public health analyst for the California State Department of Public Health. He served as a public health statistician in the San Joaquin Local Health District the following year.

From 1952 to 1957, Gittelson was assistant public health analyst for the California State Department of Public Health. He was appointed Regent Associate in Public Health at the University of California in June, 1957.

He returned to the California State Department of Public Health in June, 1958 as associate public health analyst.

The new Health Statistics Director received his bachelor of science degree in Biostatistics in 1944, and his master of public health degree in 1952. He received both degrees from the University of California.

Gittelson is married and has three children.

Lutheran Pastoral Changes Announced at Area Meeting

Pastoral changes and vacancies were announced at the Monday meeting of the executive committee of Hudson Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England held at Third Lutheran Church, Rhinebeck.

Pastoral vacancies were reported at Christ Lutheran, Elmsville due to the resignation of the Rev. Milton Arndt to accept a call in Reedsville, Pa.; at Ancram-East Taghkanic at St. John's, Middletown where the congregation is hearing candidates for the pulpit.

Kingston Pastor Resigns

The resignation of the Rev. Olney Cook, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran, Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston was announced effective April 1. He will remain however until a new pastor is called.

The retirement of the Rev. G. Oliver Sands, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, was announced. He and Mrs. Sands plan to make their home in Central Bridge. The congregation is arranging, under the guidance of the Rev. Paul E. Henry, conference president to call a new pastor.

Christ Lutheran Church, Gormantown, pulpit was reported vacant. No plans have been made to date to call a new pastor.

It was announced that Emanuel Lutheran Church, Hudson, had called the Rev. Kristaps Valters to the pastorate. He will be officially installed Sunday, March 20 at 4 p. m. He was formerly pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, New Bedford, Mass. The conference president will officiate at the installation.

Retreat Planned

Plans were announced for a Hudson Conference stewardship retreat at the YMCA Camp and Retreat Grounds, Pawling. The Rev. Fuhlbuck of Poughkeepsie will be chairman of retreat. The retreat will bring together some 38 pastors and as many laymen, stewardship chairman, from each congregation of the Hudson Conference congregations of the N.Y. and N.E. Synod for a two-day program May 6 and 7. The object of the retreat will be to explore the Scriptural basis of the use of time, money and talents; to inform those attending of the accomplishments and goals of the churchwide programs; to develop an informed and dedicated individual or group in each parish, who will practice and promote stewardship.

It was reported by the Rev. Walter Cowen, chairman of the Lutheran World Action Committee of the conference that the committee planned to arrange meetings with councils of churches who gave 50 per cent or less on their Lutheran World Action quota in 1959. Each congregation has a per capita quota for World Relief of $2 per communicating member.

The Rev. Erwin Jaxheimer, pastor of Third Lutheran Church was elected vice president to fill the unexpired term of the Rev. Theodore Casper of Middletown, who resigned to accept a call to a Lutheran Church in Maryland. The office secretary, held by the Rev. Mr. Jaxheimer will be filled at the next meeting of the conference. The Rev. Mr. Jaxheimer will continue as secretary until April 29.

The date of the spring conference scheduled Friday, April 29 at 10 a. m. was changed to the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston; the Rev. David C. Gaise, DD, pastor. The conference was originally scheduled for St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp in conjunction with the 250th anniversary celebration of the church. The congregation is in the process of a $40,000 renovation program which due to delays will not be completed in time to entertain the conference.

West Camp Designated

The West Camp congregation will be hosts for the fall convention of the conference on September 16.

Those attending the meeting this week were the Rev. Mr. Henry, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Red Hook; the Rev. Mr. Jaxheimer; Miles S. Hendricks of Poughkeepsie, treasurer; Lloyd H. Rockefeller of Red Hook, lay member; the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of the West Camp church, member-at-large, and the Rev. Mr. Cowen, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties, chairman of conference publicity.

Out of the Past

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 300 million years ago, says the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, a vast inland sea extended from what is now Lake Erie south across Ohio to West Virginia. It deposited salt up to 300 feet thick in some places and this is now the basic ingredient for about 14,000 manufacturing and industrial processes.

Logic Solves Lead Problem

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Take a look at the East and North hands only. Your partner opens a heart against the four spade contract and South ruffs the third heart lead. He plays two rounds of spades and leads the nine of clubs.

Declarer lets this ride and you win with the jack. What should you play?

In his excellent book, "The Expert Game," Terence Reese points out that everything looks bad. A heart lead gives declarer a ruff and discard. A diamond may allow him to make the queen and a club lead appears suicidal.

Mr. Reese points out that a club lead is the winner. South has shown two hearts and five spades so he holds six cards in the minor suits. If five of them are clubs return will have cost East the hand but if as many as two are diamonds South will have a diamond to lose at the end of the hand.

Speaks in Generalities

President Optimistic
In His Report on S-A

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower got a thunderous reception in South America—sprinkled with some unpleasant episodes—but the people he visited may judge the worth of his journey on the follow-up.

In the talk he made to the nation Tuesday night there wasn't much indication of follow-up in the sense of new programs or projects to help the South Americans. He talked mostly in generalities.

All-Time High
He took an extremely optimistic view of what he found on his journey. He said our relations with our sister republics, with very few exceptions, reached an all-time high.

Some students of Latin America may question this and wonder whether even a trip by such a popular figure as the President can wipe out the ill will toward America demonstrated when Vice President Richard M. Nixon went there.

It's too soon to know whether the President has, or will have, any new projects or programs in mind for the nations he visited or their neighbors. He still has time before leaving office to come up with some.

Still, that time is limited, extremely limited when considered against the busy year ahead of him: a summit meeting, a proposed visit to the Soviet Union, the Republican convention, the presidential campaign.

Stresses Self-Reliance
Eisenhower did indicate that this country will try to be helpful but he still stressed the virtue of self-reliance among the Latin Americans in solving their dilemmas.

He said: "In our discussions, I stressed that all nations—large or small, powerful or weak—should assume some responsibility for the advancement of humankind, in freedom.

"Though we of the United States will, within the framework of our world situation and economic capacity, assist all we can, we look for the time when all the free nations will feel a common responsibility for our common destiny."

Touche on Sore Point

The President touched on a sore point among Latin Americans when he said: "Another persistent misunderstanding which I sought to correct wherever I traveled is that we sometimes support dictators. Of course, we abhor all tyrannical forms of government, whether of the left or right."

This was not quite a denial that the United States has dealt on friendly terms with dictatorships or tyrannies.

For instance, the United States got along swimmingly with Fulgencio Batista, the Cuban dictator until Fidel Castro threw him out and substituted a new dictatorship of his own.

Keeps His Promise

PIEDMONT, W. Va. (AP)—Harold Hamilton is the kind of fellow who keeps a promise.

So he walked 11 miles Tuesday to make good on his vow to contribute a pint of blood. Hamilton lives at Chestnut Grove, Md., and a Red Cross bloodmobile was visiting this area. He explained his car broke down, so he walked.

INVITING EMPLOYER TO HER WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Post: About six months ago I started working for my present employer as his private secretary. I am going to be married shortly and would like to know if it is proper to invite him to my wedding. He is far above us socially and I do not want to overstep my bounds, but on the other hand, I do not want to slight him. Will you please tell me what to do?

Answer: If your relationship has been strictly business, you would not invite him. But if he has been friendly and has shown an interest in your wedding plans, tell him that if he would like to come to your wedding (and say where and when) that you would be very pleased to have him.

Thanking Those Who Sent Donations

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother died recently and a notice was sent to the newspapers requesting that no flowers be sent to the funeral but that donations be sent instead to the Cancer Fund which was mother's pet charity. A great many friends sent generous checks to this fund and now I would like to know if I should write and thank them for their contributions. I am sure the Cancer Society will send out cards acknowledging these contributions. Is their thanks sufficient, or must I write a personal thank-you note in addition?

Answer: Yes, you should write personal thank-you notes to all those who sent donations.

Inviting Strangers

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it would be proper to invite my daughter's boy friend's family to my son's Bar Mitzvah? I would like to invite them to both the service and open house which will follow. My daughter has been going with the young man for two years but we have never met his family.

Answer: Not having met his family, you should not invite them.

KILLERS OF CHILDREN

Diphtheria... mastoiditis... scarlet fever... pneumonia! These were some of the big diseases — the big killers of children — a quarter-century ago. But today, we rarely hear of anyone dying from one of these diseases. The explanation? These diseases have been conquered by new drugs — drugs that were unknown 25 years ago — but are now found in every drug store.

Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals Listed By Joint Commission on Accreditation

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Chicago, Ill., today published its annual list of accredited hospitals.

The Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals are both included in the list.

There are approximately 6,000 hospitals eligible for accreditation but Doctor Kenneth B. Babcock, Commission Director, pointed out that the omission of a hospital from the list did not necessarily mean it had failed to pass an accreditation survey. The accreditation program is a voluntary one and only those hospitals which request surveys are visited. Therefore, some hospitals not listed may not have requested surveys. Hospitals with less than 25 beds are, with rare exceptions, not eligible for accreditation.

Statistics show, said Doctor Babcock, that of the 6,000 eligible hospitals over 4,500 have applied and of this number about 75 per cent are accredited. Of the total number of hospitals eligible (6,000) for survey the percentage accredited is 51.5 per cent. Accreditation of a hospital has been likened by many to "sterling or silver." It is a mark of distinction and earned by high standards of care.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is an agency established by four organizations—The American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association—to conduct the hospital survey and inspection program initiated by the American College of Surgeons in 1919. The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals began operations on January 1, 1953.

"Accreditation of a hospital means," Doctor Babcock said, "that it has voluntarily submitted to a survey of its facilities and its patient care. It is a badge of recognition to high standards of patient care."

Doctor Babcock said that the survey is undertaken on a confidential basis between the hospital and the Commission. "Therefore," he said, "The Commission cannot release any information about its work other than the annual list published herewith. All information concerning a specific hospital must be obtained from the hospital itself."

Doctor Babcock said the surveys, all physicians, rate a hospital on certain basic requirements such as: A safe physical plant free from fire hazards; careful supervision and review by the medical staff of the patient care rendered in the hospital; special study by the medical staff of all unusual or complicated cases; adequate medical records; ethical practices; investigation of all tissue removed at operation; proper nursing care; proper administrative and medical staff organization.

"It can be seen from this explanation," Doctor Babcock said, "that the survey covers the essentials of good patient care. The accreditation program is a tribute not only to the organizations which support it but to the hospitals which make it possible by their willingness to have their patient care judged by objective criteria. It is proof that, with few exceptions, our hospitals are striving constantly to improve the care they render."

Catering to His Ego Is Way To the Heart of Any Man

It's easy to get along with a man. Encourage him to talk by listening attentively to everything he has to say.

If you want to sell him an idea, bring it up so casually that he can mull it over until he is convinced he thought it up himself.

If you disagree with him, do so in a gentle, feminine manner that doesn't irritate him.

Ask his advice now and then. If you take it and it turns out well, be sure to tell him so.

Don't bore him with the "I said... and she said" chatter that would interest only another woman, and then accuse him of not hearing a word you are saying. If you talk to a man about something HE is interested in, he'll listen.

If you can't help "mothering" him, at least do your prompting, soothing and advising in private. No man wants his wife to remind him in front of others that he needs a haircut, that he lets the boss walk all over him, or that he is neglecting his duties as a host.

Build him up instead of low-rating him. It's just as easy to tell a story that brings out what a smart man he is as to tell one that makes him look like a blundering idiot. There is no doubt about which story will make him feel pleased with YOU. Make it quite clear that you are for him—not against him.

Be pleased when he tries to please you. If you aren't, he'll soon quit trying to make you happy.

Look for things to laugh about. The sound of a woman's laughter (if she is not laughing at him) makes a man feel relaxed and happy and comfortably at home.

SOS—WEBSTER!

A very charming saleswoman in Kingston is living a chaotic life all because women shoppers don't know the difference between leotards and tights!

When I received the SOS signal I flashed one well known Webster dictionary, to make double sure of the definitions, and came up with the following.

LEOTARDS—are short close-fitting sleeveless garments, cut low in the front neckline. They are usually worn by acrobats and aerial performers—just in case you would like to know.

TIGHTS—are close-fitting breeches or skintight garments covering the legs and lower part of the body. I was particularly amused to see this notation in the dictionary regarding tights—"now rare." Little does Webster know! (wherever he may be)

So ladies, when you want tights don't ask for leotards, and vice versa.

Well-Balanced Breakfast

The Iowa Breakfast Studies have proved that a breakfast consisting of juice, cereal, milk and toast, is moderately low in fat and provides a basic well-balanced meal. The study, made for the Cereal Institute of Chicago, (of course) does illustrate that this type of breakfast is sufficient for all ages. The report goes on to indicate that Americans of all ages are eating twice the amount of fat they need. As a service to help meet this problem in the American diet, the report suggests the above low-fat well balanced breakfast for age groups 4-65.

If you abide by the low-fat breakfast perhaps you will be able to take advantage of the scallops that are now plentiful. Save up all your calories for the evening meal.

Scallops are plentiful and good. Lenten meals that feature firm, nutty-flavored scallops can never be tagged drab or tasteless. But even scallops can pall if they are served the same way every time. So let your imagination free-wheel now and then. Try broiling them, for instance, brushing on melted butter and lemon juice. Or pan fry them with mushrooms and chopped onions. For a pleasant change, try wrapping them in bacon, threading them on skewers and broiling in the fireplace.

Or if you prefer your scallops ready-cooked (the heat and eat type), try various seafood sauces found in every cookbook. Incidentally, the big, smooth scallop shells make delightful individual serving dishes for these sauces and other scallop preparations.

Another way to perk up your Lenten meals, is by teaming up scallops with other compatible foods—scallops and mushrooms, scallops and oysters, scallops and noodles.

Shrimp and Eggs

The Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of Interior urges housewives to serve shrimp in all forms, fresh, frozen, or canned. Versatile shrimp can be used in a variety of dishes—an especially welcome thought during this Lenten season.

When thinking of a menu for a late breakfast, brunch, or midnight supper, eggs are often the first thing to come to mind. Since March is National Egg Month and shrimp is in good supply, what more logical and happy combination than shrimp and eggs. It could be an enticing dish for an after-the-theatre party or midnight supper.

Junior's Addiction to TV Can Be Cured by Parents

Nearly every night in young Fred's home there's a tussle to pry him loose from the TV set and get him on his way to bed. Seldom is Fred content to see one western through to its end. Always he must stay up to see how the next sheriff makes out with the cattle rustlers. Usually Dad has to be called from behind his newspaper to exert paternal authority. When Fred finally retires his parents general feeling is:

"Give a child an inch of TV entertainment—and he wants a yard."

Personally, I can understand Fred. The TV grownups who produce his intriguing westerns work terribly hard to interest him. Script writers lie awake nights plotting new, suspenseful situations for him. Directors, actors, camera crews rehearse and rehearse for the split-second timing that makes the crypt gung-fights look real. All the resourcefulness of these skilled grownups is applied to the work of arousing Fred's interest in them and sustaining it.

But Fred's parents put very little work indeed into arousing his interest in the story and sustaining it.

These days we hear an awful lot of criticism of the violence that TV offers children in the name of entertainment. I don't go along with it. I don't think that the problem of children's TV entertainment is the TV entertainment at all. I think the problem is parents' disparagement of their own abilities to entertain.

We have much more substantial satisfaction to offer Fred in the evenings than the shadow of people on the TV set.

Were Fred's father to come out from behind his newspaper tonight to start reading Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped" to his son, the son would soon discover its plot to be more intriguing than that of any TV western.

Were his mother to come up with some ideas for creating a landscape for his train system, he'd find putting them to work far more exciting than just looking at the scenery created by TV's professional designers.

But so long as dad immerses himself in his paper and mom in the kitchen, the TV shadow people get no competition. Fred has no way of discovering that he's the child of interesting people. Unlike our TV competitors, we don't want to work at being interesting.

Fire Siren at Bearsville Gives Better Protection

A fire siren has been placed on the MacDaniel and Wingate garage in Bearsville to insure saturation of the town on fire calls. Fire Chief George Haythorne announced at Monday's meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1.

It was pointed out that, due to certain climatic air conditions that prevail from time to time, the siren in Woodstock cannot always be heard by members who reside in the Bearsville section.

The siren, which was donated by Victor Basil and installed by members of the company, is expected to correct the condition and insure saturation of the community. In addition to sounding all alarms, the siren will be sounded daily at 12 o'clock noon, except on Sundays and holidays.

Chief Haythorne also reported that there were six fires and one mutual aid call since the first of the year, 4 in January and two in February.

Truck in Service

George Rohmann and Peter Foskett were elected members of the company.

It was also announced that, although the emergency truck is not fully equipped as planned, it has been put in service and will join the rest of the apparatus in answering all alarms. The truck had been purchased with company funds and all work, repairs and alterations were done by the members during their spare time.

All appliances, equipment and materials were purchased from profits made from various affairs, dances and bazaars; and also donations from people of the town. As more funds become available, the equipment needed to complete the setup will be added. All of this has been accomplished without cost to the town.

TV Is Thriving During Film Halt

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Although the actors' strike has idled a vast portion of what Hollywood reverently calls The Industry the movies' stepchild, TV, is thriving.

Ironically, television caused the dispute which led the 14,000-member Screen Actors Guild to go on strike against the major movie studios.

An estimated 10,000 studio employees now are working on TV film series and on films by independent producers who already have come to terms with SAG. The guild has a separate contract with the studios covering production of films for television. Due to expire March 31, it has been extended for 60 days.

Before the actors' walkout Monday, TV films already were supplying more employment than were the eight so-called theatrical pictures on which production had to be halted, the SAG said. However, TV pay rates are lower than theatrical rates.

The key issue in the strike is the actors' demand for a share in the profits of post-1948 movies sold to TV. The major studios say this would be paying an actor twice for the same job. The actors' reply, in effect, is that studios also are getting paid twice when they sell films to TV.

Two efforts to end the strike were launched Tuesday.

Federal mediator Jules Medoff sought to bring both sides together at the bargaining table.

The guild huddled with a half-dozen craft unions to determine if their demands for a share in TV residuals could be combined into a smaller package more acceptable to the producers.

Both efforts faced formidable barriers, particularly the contention by the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers that the issue of additional payments to actors or other employees is not negotiable.

California Begins Defense of NCAA Title With 71-44 Win

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

California's defending champion Bears and the hustling Mountaineers of West Virginia, one-two in last year's NCAA basketball tournament, are over their first hurdle in their drive for another title showdown.

Defense-minded Cal, a 71-70 winner over West Virginia in the NCAA championship tussle in 1959, routed Idaho State 71-44 Tuesday night while West Virginia, with All-America Jerry West better than ever, whipped Navy 94-86.

Both were among six first-round games played in the sprawling NCAA eliminations in San Francisco, New York and Lexington, Ky. West Virginia's triumph over Navy came in an Eastern regional tripleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden in which powerful New York U. downed Connecticut 78-59 and Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference champs overcame Ivey League king Princeton, 84-60.

Just Miss Record
In Lexington, Western Kentucky routed 10th-ranked Miami (Fla.) 107-84—missing the single game NCAA scoring high by one point, and Ohio U., champion of the Mid-American Conference, upset Notre Dame 74-66 in first-round games in the Midwest regional.

California's victory, the Bears' 25th in 26 games this season and 41st in their last 42 starts, came at San Francisco in a first-round game of the Western regional.

All six winners advance to regional semifinals this weekend, when the bulky NCAA field will be chopped to the four survivors for the national semifinals and finals at San Francisco March 18 and 19.

Two games tonight will complete the line-up for the four-team regionals this Friday and Saturday at Charlotte, N.C., Louisville, Manhattan, Kan., and Seattle, New Mexico State, the Border Conference champ, plays Oregon at Corvallis, Ore., with the winner advancing to the Seattle regional. In Manhattan, Kan., Kansas and Kansas State, co-champs of the Big Eight Conference, meet in a one-game playoff to determine the league's NCAA representative at the Manhattan regional.

Weekend Slate
Here's the way it looks now for Friday and Saturday:

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C.—West Virginia (25-4) vs. NYU (20-3); St. Joseph's (Pa.) (19-5) vs. Duke (16-10). (St. Joseph's first-round bye).

Midwest at Louisville—Ohio U. (17-7) vs. Georgia Tech (21-5); Western Kentucky (20-6) vs. Ohio State (21-3). (Georgia Tech, Ohio State first-round byes).

Midwest at Manhattan, Kan.—Cincinnati (25-1) vs. DePaul (16-6); Texas (18-6) vs. Kansas-Kansas State winner. (Cincinnati, Texas, and Big Eight champ first-round byes).

West at Seattle—California (25-1) vs. Santa Clara (21-8); Utah (25-2) vs. New Mexico State—Oregon winner. (Santa Clara first-round bye).

Galveston, Texas, was the first U.S. city to try the commission form of government.

Burdette Refuses To Ink Pact

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Right-hander Lew Burdette, a 21-game winner for Milwaukee last season, heads an imposing list of Braves still holding firm in their salary disputes with the front office as major league baseball's holdout roster continues to dwindle.

With the exhibition season only three days away, the Braves still have four players unsigned—Burdette, relief specialist Don McMahon, outfielder Wes Covington and utility infielder Bobby Avila. The rest of the major league clubs have only seven dissatisfied customers.

Mike Kelly, also continuing the holdout siege as a quartet of American League outfielders—New York's Mickey Mantle, Detroit's Charlie Maxwell, Gene Woodling of Baltimore and the always late-reporting Minnie Minoso, now with Chicago's White Sox.

The others on the list are Pittsburgh outfielder Joe Christopher, Washington pitcher Hal Griggs and infielder Ted Lepcio of Philadelphia.

The Braves, who lost the National League pennant to Los Angeles in a playoff, lured one of their key players into the fold Tuesday when they signed shortstop Johnny Logan. Salary terms were not disclosed.

The Yankees signed Tony Kubek, who shifted between the infield and outfield last season, for about $18,000, a slight raise.

Ohio Keglers Get Early Lead In ABC Doubles

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Bob Wheeler and Frank Annarelli of Ashland, Ohio, moved into first place in the doubles division of the American Bowling Congress championships Tuesday with a 1,287 series.

Wheeler, 32-year-old bowling alley manager, paced the duo with 655. George Bollinger and Bob Weller, McSherrytown, Pa., dropped into second place with the 1,254 they rolled Sunday.

John Scarpa of Detroit rolled a rousing 691 series in doubles—the best of the tournament so far—but his partner, Bill Murray, earned only 509 for a total of 1,200, placing them seventh.

Other new keggers in the top 10 of the doubles are John Smrecek and Ed Weber of Linden, N. J., who took third with 1,241. Phil Caporusso of New York continued to dominate the all-events with 1,845. Charley Grossman of Wooster, Ohio, took second place in the all-events with 1,825.

MOORE'S OPPONENT SIGNS THIS WEEK
NEW YORK (AP) — The only things that remain for a world light heavyweight title bout between champion Archie Moore and Eric Schoepner of Germany are the latter's signature, the exact date and site, and the television contract.
Of the four, only the TV contract is furthest advanced. Andy Niederreiter is expected to leave Thursday for Germany and sign the unbeaten European titlist Jack Kearns, Moore's manager, signed Tuesday. Niederreiter is Schoepner's American agent.
Promoter Jack Fugazy said the bout will most likely be held July 11 at Roosevelt Stadium, in Jersey City, N.J.

Uhl Has 407 Points to Lead DUSO in Scoring

To the surprise of practically nobody, Joe Uhl captured the 1959-60 individual scoring title in the DUSO Basketball League. Final figures show the Kingston sharpshooter with the most baskets (155), the most free throws (97), and the most points—a total of 407. In 16 league games, that figures to an average of 25.4 a start. Small wonder he was a unanimous choice for the All-DUSO first team.

Contrary to Uhl's easy time in the race for the top spot, the second place battle was close. Leo Armstead of Monticello edged Bob Boschen of Poughkeepsie and Bob Kunis of Fallsburgh for the runner-up position.

Armstead scored 345 points while Boschen had 332 and Kunis 330. Behind the top four the closest was Tom Slover of Middletown with 266 points.

Uhl also had the individual high mark for one game with 44 points against Fallsburgh. Armstead netted 42 against Port Jervis.

Cage Action Begins In Section 9 Tourney

Warwick, Clarkstown and Monticello advanced to the semifinals of the Section Nine Class B Basketball tournament last night.

Joe Green scored 24 points and Bob VanDuser had 17 as Warwick pulled a mild upset, 64-51, over Wallkill, the UCAL champion. Bob Wright had 17 markers and Jim Mooney scored 12 for the losers.

Clarkstown of the Rockland County League knocked the Liberty Redskins out of the tourney with a 52-41 victory at the Monroe-Woodbury court, Bob Villane collected 18 points for the winners while Al Scott led Liberty with 12 markers.

Monticello had a big scare. Playing without ace Leo Armstead, bedded down with the flu, the Panthers just managed to squeeze by Suffern, 51-50, at Spring Valley. Junior Steve Schumer led the winners with 23 points and George Cook added 13. Tom Wanamaker had 20 for Suffern.

In a Class C-D battle at Newburgh Free Academy, Tri-Valley of the Western Sullivan League stopped Florida, an Orange County League entry, 66-41.

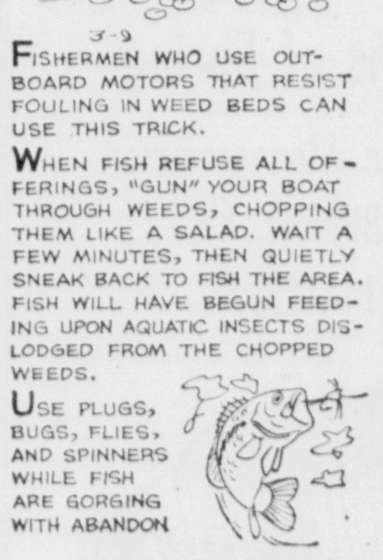

The Friday schedule finds Clarkstown vs. Monroe-Woodbury and Warwick vs. Monticello in Class B semi-final tilts at the Orange County Community College and Tri-Valley vs. Rondout Valley at the same site in a Class C-D semi-final attraction. Chester will meet Livingston Manor at the OCC in another C-D contest.

British Champ Impressive in Win Over Atkins

LONDON (AP) — Wally Swift may have earned a shot at the world welterweight crown of Don Jordan after his close decision over former champ Virgil Atkins Tuesday night at Wembley Stadium.

British promoter Harry Levene promised Swift, the British welter king, a possible shot at Jordan or world junior welter King Carlos Ortiz of New York if he beat Atkins.

Levene said he plans to get one of the two Americans here for a May 17 bout against the 23-year-old Swift.

Swift's victory over Atkins, who lost his title to Jordan of Los Angeles in December 1958, was a close one. Referee Ike Powell's decision was greeted with mixed boos and cheers by the crowd of 10,000.

The referee is the sole judge in British boxing. The Associated Press gave Swift six rounds and Atkins four. Atkins, of St. Louis, looked like he was going to end the fight in the first round but couldn't put away Swift, who weighed 147½.

Atkins weighed 148½.

For a revival affair after a long absence from the local bowling scene, the combined banquet of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association and Kingston Bowling Association last Saturday night was a pleasant affair for the some 125 persons who attended.

The menu was high grade, the speech making kept to a minimum and the good fellowship on a high level. Looking over the house we got the impression the women did a better job selling tickets, but the combined effort produced a successful affair.

The combined KBA-KWBA banquet should be the outstanding bowling function of the season. It has a rich potential that should be more fully explored and promoted a year hence.

Chichelsky's Chatter:

A recent talk with Vance Leware, secretary of the Electrol League, led to a discussion regarding the outstanding bowlers in Kingston in the post-war period, roughly from 1945 up to 1960. We'll get out on a weak limb with our selections, basing them on all-round ability, consistency under pressure and on various alley conditions. Before naming our top ten, there are two keglars we feel who rate selection, although they bowled for only five years in the major circuits—Larry Weishaup, now in Newburgh, and Jerry Oster, who is in Detroit. Here are our picks, without any effort to classify them in order: John Ferraro, Harold Broskie, Randy Kelder, Dick Howard, Chris Gallo, Charlie Manfro, Tom Carlinio, Buster Ferraro, Larry Petersen and Jack Ferraro. They have all averaged over 190 in their various leagues. These picks undoubtedly will create some controversy among the sharpeners. . . . Buster Ferraro has pulled himself within a half point of Bob Shlightner's 200 high average in the Ferraro Major. Hat trick keglars the past week included Ken Boughton Sr., 600; Larry Jacobs and Eddie Murphy, 655. . . . Joe Costello joined the triplicate club with a trio of 164 games. Frank Passer informs us that entry sheets for the Sangi Bowlero sweepstakes will be off the press by Friday.

Terry Beckert's Tenpin Topics:

Even with the snow and ice on the ground, our thoughts turn to the upcoming state tournament that begins Thursday at Geneva. About 18 of our local teams are going in hopes of rolling those big scores. Best of luck to all those bowling and we hope to report some local winners by the time it ends. An all-time record entry of 2438 teams, 3770 doubles, and 7540 singles have been reported by the state secretary. . . . Marion Turash was the all events winner last year with a 1782 total. . . . Overheard that Dot Walthery of New Paltz is really warming up these days. She bought a new ball and does her practicing in the living room of her home with her 79-year-old mother as her coach. . . . Keep trying, Dotty, and who knows some day you may bowl that 300 game you dreamed about. The bowling banquet held this past weekend at the Clinton was a success, but more members should have attended. . . . Nice to see Helen Murphy there. Although Helen has been away from the game the past few years, she never fails to attend the annual banquet. Hope someday soon we'll see her back bowling. . . . Despite the fact that Judy Lowe has a cast on her leg, she showed up at the alleys last week to see the girls of the Friendship League, of which she is president. Judy looked real good and we don't think it will be too much longer, before we'll have her shooting those big scores again. Condolences to the Manhattan Bowling Balls team. Leading the net division of the J-A tournament for a good many weeks, they were beat out on the last weekend. As a result they finished in fourth place and out of the money. That glamorous Pat Pearson fired a 526 triple in the Matinee League. Not only was it Pat's highest this season, it was also a new high individual triple for the league. Irene Maurer, who sports a 150 average, forgot it and turned in a 577 total in the IEM League. . . . New members of the 500 Club are Markle 501, Betty Shlightner 500 on the nose and Mary Graves with a big 230 single and 523 triple, her highest in both counts. Millie Best had an up and down score last week, with 101-201-121 for a 423 series. The 201 was her BEST single. . . . Be careful that your opinion of others is not their's of you.

City Set to Honor Carol Heiss With Ticker Tape Parade

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Carol Heiss, the 20-year-old world and Olympic figure skating champion, gets the city's traditional ticker tape parade up Broadway today amid rumors that she may announce her engagement to another figure skater.

There has been talk that Carol, a blonde New York University junior, would marry Hayes Alan Jenkins, the 1956 Olympic figure skating champion and now a lawyer in Akron, Ohio.

But Carol denied — or almost denied — it all.

"I'm not even going steady," she said. "Maybe within the next five years I might become engaged, but not now. I can't be linked romantically with anyone."

She added that she hasn't seen Jenkins since Thanksgiving Day. But if she does become engaged, would it be to Jenkins?

"Not necessarily."

Carol said she has only one definite plan and that's to rest.

"I don't even know what I'm going to be doing the day after tomorrow let alone plan for the future," she said. "Usually, I rest a couple of weeks, then start training again for the next competition. This time, though, I'm going to rest a lot longer."

She also has not been swayed toward a professional career, although her coach, Pierre Brunet, said she has received "dozens" of offers from ice shows and movie studios.

"I am tired of having lived out of a suitcase for the last seven weeks," she commented. "I don't think I could stand living out of one for 42 weeks a year. I like to live a normal life and I don't think that's normal."

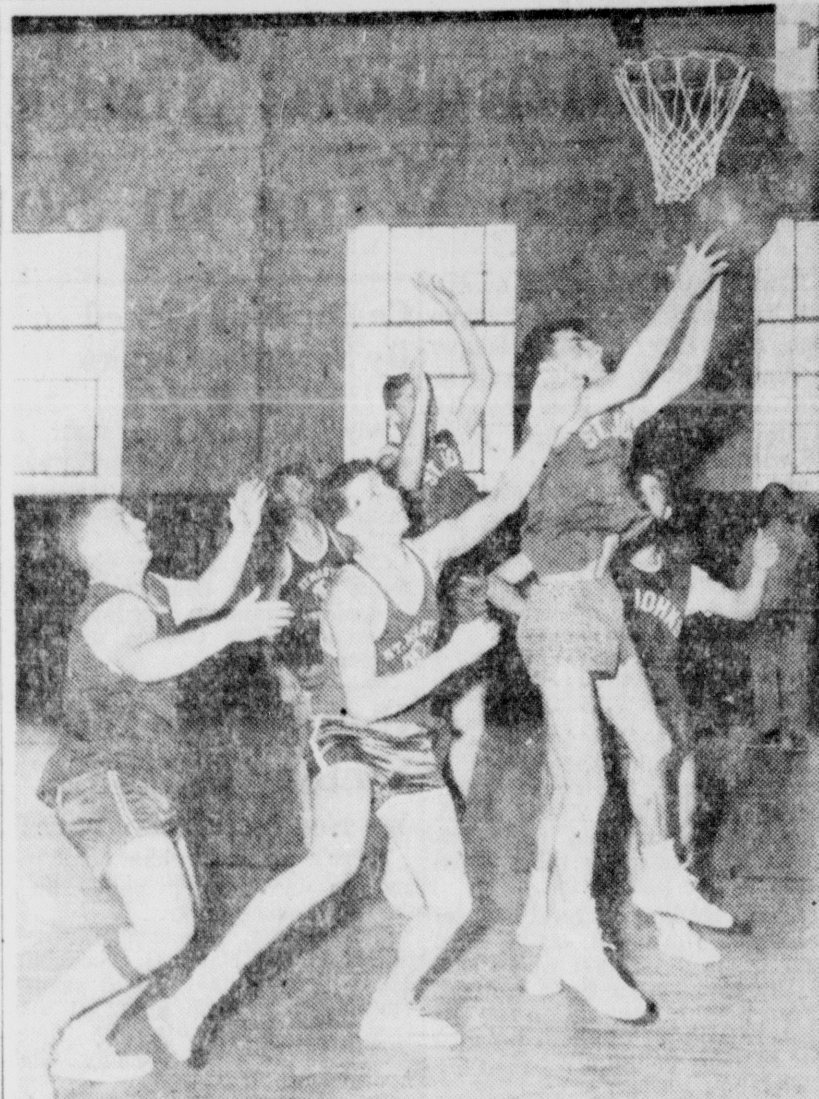

Lake Katrine Club To Send Two Boys To DeBruce Camp

Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club, Inc., at its monthly meeting last night unanimously approved the sending of two boys to DeBruce Conservation Camp at DeBruce for one week, August 7-13. Boys in the 13 to 16 category will be eligible. Names must be submitted at the April 12 meeting. A drawing will take place at that time and the two boys along with two alternates will be selected.

An amended resolution on stream improvements presented by Chet Joy was approved by the club for presentation to the Ulster County Federation. President Peter Lemister Jr., appointed Frank Hornbeck as game chairman, Chet Joy, stream improvement and Roland Post as club fish chairman. The annual dues were also set, to remain the same as previous years. The pleasant committee were empowered to arrange for the purchase of 500 adult pheasants for fall release. This is the same amount as last year's record release which club members termed the best pheasant season in many years at the local preserve. Movies were shown and refreshments enjoyed.

Hawks Gain 25th Victory at Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home — and no one likes it better than the St. Louis Hawks.

The Hawks, Western Division titlists in the National Basketball Assn., finished their home season Tuesday night with a 122-101 victory over Detroit to run their record to 28-5 at friendly Kiel Auditorium.

The Hawks with a 45-29 mark, played only 17-24 ball on the road so far this season but always had the home court cushion. They have one game remaining, at Cincinnati tonight.

No Doubt About This Selection

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Most Valuable Player Award for the 1959-60 Memorial Auditorium basketball season has gone to St. Bonaventure's Tom Stith.

Stith, second team All-America and the country's second leading scorer, also headed the auditorium's All Home Team selected from St. Bonaventure and Canisius squads.

Sam Stith and Whitey Martin of Bona and Frank Rojek and Larry Sarafinas of Canisius comprised the team.

Dave De Busschere of Detroit, Gary Roggenbuck of Dayton, Don Kojis of Marquette, Jim Haggard of Villanova and Jim Russi of Santa Clara were named to the all-opponent team.

Canadians Teaching Fans Grid Know How

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — More than 1,000 persons are attending a night school course here on how to watch football.

They paid $2.50 for the four-session course, to be spread over four weeks. The first session was held Monday night.

The course was conceived by Dr. C. C. Watson, director of adult education in suburban Burnaby. The teacher is Wayne Robinson, head coach of the professional British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League. The school system will share the proceeds with Robinson and his assistants.

Fundamentals of the game were explained at the first session. Next week the class will go into the details.

Raschi Was Greatest Yankee Hurler--Berra

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — Yogi Berra has caught a lot of pitchers and games since he usurped the squatter's rights of a catcher with the Yankees 13 years ago.

There were some fair to middling handoff kings—Vic Raschi, Allie Reynolds, Spud Chandler, Spec Shea, Joe Page, Eddie Lopat, Tommy Byrne, Johnny Sain, Whitey Ford, Bob Grim, Bob Turley, Don Larsen and Ryne Duren, among them.

Who was the best of the slingers who hoodwinked the opposition through 10 World Series with Berra, eight of them on the winning side?

"OH, RASCHI," replied Berra, without the slightest hesitation between bites of a chicken sandwich during a lunch break at Miller Huggins Field, the open lot where the New York club trains on St. Petersburg's north side. "Yup, Raschi if you had to win one game. Yeah, Raschi was tough."

"Before the payoff game in a World Series with the Dodgers in Brooklyn, Casey Stengel said in the clubhouse, 'Well, this is it. Now who do you want to pitch?' The 40 guys in the clubhouse shouted 'Raschi!' so loud the Dodgers must have heard it across the way. That's what us Yankees thought of Raschi."

"What did Raschi have? He had a slider and a curve that wasn't too good, but what made him so rough was a fast ball that got them out. Funny thing about him was that he couldn't relieve as good as Toots Shor. The guy was built to finish what he started."

SO IS YOGI. You suddenly realize Berra is the dean of the Yankees, the only active survivor of the 1947 club and also Stengel's first 1949 edition. He'll be 35 in May.

"Reynolds was tremendous, too," recalled Berra, starting out for another whirl under the hot sun. "The Chief really could pour the ball by hitters, especially against a contending club and before a big crowd. Man, he loved to pitch before the big crowd."

"Lopat was the cutest of the gang, the easiest to catch because he had almost perfect control of every pitch at different speeds. He made batters impatient. They couldn't wait for what looked so easy to hit and they'd swing at his motion."

"Sain threw a breaking ball sidearm, three-quarter and overhand and had his own way with every hitter. Ford is a stuff pitcher, pretty fast, with a beautiful curve as an ace and plenty of mookie. Turley has lost none of his speed and still takes full advantage of the curve."

"No one ever threw harder than Duren, but I'll have to see him two or three more years before I'd rate him ahead of Page as a relief pitcher."

THERE'S NO DOUBT where Berra rates. Eye witnesses of his debut as a Yankee in right field in '47 would have laid a price that he wouldn't be alive in '60, let alone the best catcher in the business earning $50,000 a year.

Because he looked like the most expendable guy in the park, Bucky Harris, then manager, decided Berra was more catcher than outfielder. He had to take him out of the World Series that fall because Jackie Robinson, Pete Reiser, Pee Wee Reese and the Dodgers made him look like the odd character a lot of people, who didn't know the shy Italian boy, suspected he was.

Berra's bat enabled him to finish the Series in right field, but he worked at catching and went on to make the Dodgers and everybody else respect him.

THEY MADE UP amusing stories about Berra. He read comic books. It seemed incongruous to see him catching the college-bred Raschi and Reynolds and the chubby little man of the world, Lopat. But they were perfectly content to let the squat kid from The Hill in St. Louis call the shots. The pitcher has yet to come along who didn't want to throw to Berra.

A ballplayer doesn't have to have higher education when he has baseball instinct, and Berra was richly endowed with that.

Yogi Berra is a rich man materially now, but there is no more swagger in him than there was when he first showed up—a humble lad not quite sure where he belonged and asking nothing more than the chance.

Now, at least, you know he belongs.

MAKE IT PAY — THE FREEMAN WAY

Youth Regrets Ring Incident

NEW YORK (AP)—When your sweetheart hands you back her engagement ring, count 10, says Tommy McCauley, and stuff the ring safely in your pocket.

Tommy, 23, offers this advice because he didn't follow it.

Pretty Joyce Mullan, 21, flung her $2,000 engagement ring at Tommy Sunday after a tiff on the doorsteps of her Brooklyn home. Tommy angrily and impulsively hurled the ring into the snow. All day, they searched unsuccessfully for the ring with the help of police and her family. During the search, Joyce and Tommy made up.

They were about ready to face a long period of penny-pinching to buy another diamond when Joyce received a phone call at work Tuesday from her mother.

A neighbor had spotted a twinkle under a subway grating outside the Mullan home. Some neighbor boys climbed down and, sure enough, it was the ring. Joyce burst into tears. Her boss gave her the rest of the day off, which she spent cooing with Tommy on the telephone.

Both insisted there would be no more tiffs between now and April 1961, when they plan to be married.

Palmer Favored

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the hottest golfer on the winter tour, was established today as the favorite in the $15,000 Pensacola Open which starts Thursday. The Ligonier, Pa., pro will be trying to win his third tournament in a row. He won the Texas and Baton Rouge open's in the past two weeks.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster, New York, as follows:

Section 1. That the construction of a storm water sewer for the Kingston Street, Van Gaasbeck Street, from Sylvester Street to Cassidy Street area to relieve flooding at an estimated maximum cost of $6,000.00, including preliminary costs and cost of construction and the financing thereof, and the said amount of $6,000.00 is hereby appropriated therefor. New Teaching Techniques

Better Schedule for More At Lower Cost Is Goal of 'Project Reward' at RPI

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—Better education for more at lower cost, through improved transmission lines between teacher and student, is the goal of Project Reward.

The new teaching techniques in Project Reward at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute involve television, films and other visual aids.

Spurring the program is a constantly rising bill for collegiate education, which this year will total 4 1/2 billion dollars across the country, exclusive of construction. Expectations are that the cost and the current student enrollment of 3.2 million will double in the next 10 years.

More Per Dollar Need
The designers are trying to determine, in effect whether a sculptor with an electrically-powered tool can turn out an artistically true statue more quickly than the man who chips away with a hand chisel.

School administrators say rising expenses cannot be met by increased tuition and by gifts. Taxpayers are resisting use of additional large chunks of tax revenue for education. So more education per dollar is the pressing need.

RPI believes the solution must include larger classes—avoiding assembly line approach—advanced programs for gifted students, cost research, visual aids and increased student responsibility for his own education.

Savings could be siphoned into new buildings, faculty salaries, research, scholarships and loans. RPI, which has 4,000 engineering and science students, has been probing this educational problem for five years.

Tyrrill Is Director
Directing Project Reward is a quiet-spoken teacher of English, Philip H. Tyrrill, a graduate of Colgate University who came to RPI in 1955. He works in a converted chapel.

Instructors are not compelled to use the project's growing resources, Project Reward, Tyrrill said, "is a service to which the professor can turn if he wants help in improving his presentation of a course."

RPI, aided by several grants and gifts, offers its new teaching aids to other schools. Associated Prof. Joseph F. Throp, who supervises the television program, instructs 300 students in the strength of Materials Laboratory.

"As many students can be taught from this one laboratory with television as could be instructed from several conventional laboratories in conventional methods," Throp said. "Television permits every student to see clearly every step in an experiment, impossible with even a small group of students watching in the laboratory."

Down to 23 Hours
The Strength of Materials and Dynamics Departments report that if all students taking the two courses were assigned to small sections, a staff load of 100 weekly contact hours would be created. By using large sections, the load has been reduced to 23 hours without sacrificing standards of student achievement, they said.

In a remodeled old building, RPI is fashioning a sound-proof, air-conditioned pilot studio-auditorium. There the teacher will have a fingertip control, closed circuit TV, films and slides.

A 9 1/2-million-dollar Science Center being built on the campus will incorporate results of studies in classroom-laboratory design.

A key figure in Project Reward is an Oakland, Calif., Industrialist, Clay P. Bedford, an RPI trustee who granted more than $150,000 to initiate the work.

RPI President Richard G. Folsom said Bedford was "one of the first to recognize clearly that expanding technology of the American economy, coupled with impending doubled and redoubled student bodies, threatens disastrous overloading of college teachers."

Bedford contends it must be possible in education, "by proper approach, to inspire and incorporate new methods and ideas with corresponding improvement in quality just as it has been possible among industrial people."

Couple Will Adopt Ninth Child Today
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Gerald E. Salsberry family, already a household, is going to grow larger in court today.

Salsberry and his wife are adopting their ninth child—Dannny, 7 months, a blue-eyed blond of Irish-Italian-American Indian ancestry.

Surprise Is in Store for You Concerning Religion, Aged

By MARIE DAERR
If you think that a person grows more religious as he grows older, you're sharing a popular belief.

But, says Harold L. Orbach of University of Michigan's department of gerontology, you're wrong.

Orbach bases his opinion on a study of the church-going habits of nearly 7,000 people 21 and over, living in the Detroit metropolitan area. The interviewing was done during 1952, 1954, 1955, 1956 and 1957.

"The results don't show any general trend in church attendance with age, or indication of an increase in religiosity in the later year," said Orbach.

The proportion of people attending church once a week ranged from 43 to 49 per cent. But there wasn't any steady increase with age.

Women in all age groups attended church more often than did men. Women between 40 and 63 attended most frequently.

Here are other Orbach findings: Among Protestants, only Negro men showed a steady increase in church attendance with advancing years.

Among Catholics, men went to church less as they grew older. But women showed a steady rate of attendance, with some suggestion of an increase in old age.

The only trend toward more religious attendance with advancing years was among those of Jewish faith.

Orbach pointed out that his study confirmed findings of one made by Catholic Digest in 1952.

POWELL APPEARS FOR TRIAL—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N. Y.), accompanied by his attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, left, pauses outside U. S. District Court in New York as he appeared for start of his oft-postponed trial on income tax evasion charges. He was indicted in May, 1958. (AP Wirephoto)

Another Department of Gerontology researcher, Woodrow W. Hunter, expressed the hope that there would be more research on marriage after 65. According to Hunter, younger people sometimes have a stereotyped attitude on this subject.

"They often feel older people don't have the capacity for love," Hunter said. "Yet we know that love and affection are necessary throughout life."

"When friendship and companionship dwindle during the later years, life loses one of its primary motivating forces. A marriage partner can supplant this friendship need."

Q—I worked under social security in 1944, 1945 and 1946. Then I became self-employed. Self-employment became covered by social security in 1951. I expect to retire in January, 1961. I will be 58 by then. Will I be eligible for social security when I reach 65? — B. E. Y.

A—If you had at least $400 annual net earnings in your years of self-employment, you would have accumulated 40 calendar quarters. This total, in itself, would make you fully insured for life, and you would be eligible.

Q—My sister-in-law, 62, never worked under social security. However, her daughter did, for many years. The daughter soon will be married. This will leave my widowed sister-in-law without financial support. Can this widow receive any help from social security? — F. R.

-20 Is Recorded Upstate; Low for Kingston Is 18

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Temperatures down to 20 below zero greeted New Yorkers today, as the week's deep freeze deepened. The Weather Bureau predicted continued cold, at least through Thursday.

Kingston's official low for the night was 18 degrees at 5:30 a. m. today, the city engineer's office reported. Overnight low readings of -20 were recorded at Arcade, south-east of Buffalo; at Lowville, south of Watertown, at New Hope in Cayuga County and at Stillwater Reservoir in the Adirondacks.

The Weather Bureau reported these other overnight lows below zero:

Oneonta and Olean, 14; Boonville, 10; Watertown, 5; Elmira, 3, and Rochester, 1.

Buffalo, Massena and Plattsburgh registered zero, the coldest in Buffalo this winter and a new low for the date.

Unofficial readings included a -16 at Franklinville and -11 at Little Valley in Cattaraugus County.

On the plus side were: Syracuse 3, Albany and Binghamton 8, Glens Falls 11 and New York City 17.

Just outside Syracuse, a -10 was reported at Baldwinsville.

Cold Weather Will Remain During Period

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Cold weather will continue with temperatures averaging 8 or 10 degrees or more below normal. No important changes during the period. The storm tracks are expected to remain generally south of this area, and offer only a threat of light precipitation, principally over the south portions. Too cold for the best flow of maple sap.

Western New York—Wintry weather is indicated with temperatures expected to average several degrees below normal. Moderating with light snow Thursday, not much further change in temperature over the weekend, with a few periods of light snow. A more general snow likely about Monday. Less than 5 inches of new snow is expected.

Temperature Normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from daytime highs of 34-40, to overnight lows of 12-17 north and 18-24 central and south.

Supermarket Is Equipped With All Departments

Minasian's Supermarket at 86 North Front Street, one of the popular markets in the city's Uptown business district, has been completely renovated and equipped with the most modern equipment, flooring and furnishings.

Several changes have been made in the market, including the moving of the fruit and vegetable department to the right of the spacious store, which is equipped with the latest type refrigeration and air conditioning.

Summing up the establishment it is a complete one stop market, with excellent service and two checkers and cashiers at the front and one in the rear to provide efficient service to the public. The cases in the meat, dairy and fruit and vegetable departments are of modern design and the very latest type. The vegetable and fruit and the dairy departments have more footage.

Three brothers are proprietors and partners in the business. They are, Peter, of 77 Linderman Avenue, Edward, of 90 Shufeldt Street, and Lauren, who is in California. The Minasians formerly started in business here with a fruit and vegetable store on the opposite side of North Front Street, south of Wall Street. They were at that location for approximately 20 years. About 12 years ago the family purchased the former Winne property, the site of the present supermarket.

Minasian's Supermarket has been operated for about 12 years and is considered one of the most popular and most modern one stop markets in the area.

Former Sheriff Aide Admits Boy Assaults

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP)—Wayne Hawker, a former Cayuga County deputy sheriff, pleaded guilty today to a reduced charge of second-degree assault in the beating of his two young sons.

A charge that involved firing a revolver at his wife, Wanda, 23, was dropped at the request of the wife.

Hawker, 27, originally had faced a charge of first-degree assault in the beating of his sons, Bruce, 3, and Douglas, 1, during a family argument in their home here last December.

Hawker could face a maximum 10 years in state prison on the second-degree charge. County Judge Gerald S. Hewitt set sentencing for March 22.

Pope Blessed Drivers

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII today blessed thousands of automobile drivers who called him to his window by honking their horns. The motorists gathered in St. Peter's Square after having had their cars blessed at Rome's Church of Santa Francesca Romana, near the Colosseum, an annual event on this date. The pontiff appeared at his window and blessed the crowd.

Gates Hurt Slightly In Capital Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. was injured slightly in an automobile collision today.

The Cabinet member was en route from his home to the Capitol where he was scheduled to have a breakfast conference.

Gates was riding in a government-owned car driven by a Defense Department chauffeur.

Gates received a wrenched shoulder. He was reading a file of papers with his head down, at the moment the cars came together at 7th St. and Independence Avenue S. W., about a quarter of a mile from the Capitol grounds.

Gates proceeded to his office in the Pentagon, where a doctor examined him.

Letters Critical Of Couple Who Will Give Up Baby

LUTON, England (AP)—The expecting Moores had a busy day today.

Yvonne Moore was packing for departure tonight for the United States, where she plans to give her unborn child to a South Carolina couple for adoption.

Leo Moore, the husband, was out in the back yard burning a second day's heap of what he called "abusive, anonymous letters."

The letters were severely critical of the Moores' decision to give their first baby to Wilbur and Billie Prescott of North Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. Moore, 39, is expecting the baby April 17. She flies tonight to New York by Iceland Airlines and through the courtesy of the Prescotts.

Moore, 40, said he had just about had enough of Luton.

He announced he wants to sell his two-bedroom bungalow, follow his wife to America, and "start life again."

"These people who criticize us," said Moore, "don't understand our point of view. We are not being heartless."

Moore's mother, who has seven grandchildren by two other children, has pleaded in vain with her son and daughter-in-law and the Prescotts against the baby giveaway.

Wurtsboro Parley Set Friday for Tri-Area Airport

A movement toward construction of a large Tri-County Airport in the Ulster-Sullivan-Orange County area will be discussed Friday at 8:30 p. m. at a meeting at Wurtsboro school.

The Monticello Chamber of Commerce has arranged the meeting and invited various business groups, Chambers of Commerce, and labor groups to meet and discuss the proposal. Establishment of a Tri-County Airport to service the area has been under consideration for some time by a group of interested persons who are anxious to establish passenger service to the area.

At a meeting of the Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware and Greene Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, A.F.L.-C.I.O., held last evening the Council voted to send several delegates to the meeting.

Bill Sets Price For Milk, Cream In Western Area

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An Assembly-passed bill would allow the state agriculture commissioner to set minimum retail prices for milk and cream in western New York.

The commissioner could act on his own or at the request of local milk distributors, but only after a public hearing.

The bill, which would apply only to the Rochester and Niagara Frontier areas that operate under a state milk-marketing order, would permit retail dealers to go to the commissioner when they felt prices paid them were too low.

Backers of the measure, which was passed Tuesday night, said it was designed to protect the small, independent dealer from the competition of large firms.

Assemblyman William C. Drumm (R-Columbia) is the sponsor, said small-scale dealers in the Buffalo and Rochester areas were "failing by the dozens." Drumm said the middleman "was caught in a squeeze" between prices he must pay the farmers and the "fierce competition" of large companies.

Most of the state's milk market is controlled by a federal order.

Gronchi Suggests New Government

ROME (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today asked Premier Antonio Segni, who submitted the resignation of his one-party Cabinet Feb. 24, to try to form an emergency government. Segni was expected to attempt to put together a coalition. His former government was composed only of his Christian Democrats.

He told reporters he will begin talks with other political leaders as soon as possible to see whether he can solve the two-week old crisis.

Sinhanouk Says Red China Must Be Heard

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sinhanouk, prime minister of Cambodia, said today that if the world is to have lasting peace, Red China must be allowed to participate in discussions to that end. "We worry about the French atomic explosion in the Sahara," said the 37-year-old leader of neutralist Cambodia, "when we should be taking into account a much more important event, a possible A-bomb test in China."

Future of Girl Is Studied By New Jersey High Court

By JOHN KOLESAR

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—New Jersey's second highest court today faces a very human problem: Should it order a gifted 4-year-old girl taken from the family she has boarded with since she was 10 months old, as the State Board of Child Welfare wants to do?

Or should it allow the young state ward to remain with the family, which the state board feels is not capable of developing her near-genius mentality?

The three-judge court's answer to those questions will play an all-important role in the future life of little Alice Marie, the state ward living with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Combs of Old Bridge.

Lawyer Offers Plea

Take her away and you break her heart, the attorney for the Combs told the Appellate Division of Superior Court at a hearing Tuesday.

Leave her with the Combs and you may hinder development of a very bright girl, Deputy Atty. Gen. Eugene T. Urbaniak said.

Alice Marie and her foster parents were at home while the hearing went on with only some 20 newsmen and lawyers watching in the courtroom in the State House, though the case has drawn worldwide interest.

Alice Marie has been in state custody since she was born. She was boarded in two homes before being given to the Combs.

The state paid the Combs $32.50 a month to care for Alice Marie and got a signed agreement from them stating they knew they could not be considered for adoption of the child.

Family Loves Child

But the Combs grew to love Alice Marie and tried to adopt her. They were turned down by the State Board of Child Welfare.

Julius Epstein, attorney for the Combs, asked the appellate court to reverse the child welfare board ruling. Chief Judge Edward T. Gaughan asked him if he could cite a legal precedent for such an action.

"I have no legal authority, your honor," Epstein replied.

But he asked the court to act

Girl, 16, Fourth American Known Dead at Agadir

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—The number of known American dead in the Agadir earthquake rose to four today with the death of No-rene Bauer, 16, of Placentia, Calif. The total death toll has been estimated as high as 12,000.

She was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Bauer, on the top floor of the Bella Vista Apartments when the quake struck, demolishing the building.

Bauer and the girl were pulled alive from the wreckage, and the body of Mrs. Bauer was found March 2.

The father and daughter were flown to the U. S. Naval Hospital at Port Lyautey, where the girl died, hospital authorities said. Death was caused by a cerebral blood clot. Bauer is an executive of Login International Corp., of San Francisco, which operated meat plants in Agadir.

fruit-juice concentrate and fish-meal plants in Agadir.

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—A Moroccan carpenter and his 10-year-old son owe their lives to a sturdy workbench that sheltered them when the earthquakes shattered Agadir.

The two were pulled from the wreckage of their home Tuesday after having been trapped eight days. They were wedged beneath the workbench that held the carpenter's lathe.

The boy directed the rescuers, yelling instructions from beneath the wreckage.

Officials said that a search was still in progress at the ruins of the Hotel Saada, where some men thought they heard moans Tuesday.
